Topic 3.4 Political Values and Beliefs

Enduring Understanding

Political culture, including core beliefs and values that address the tension between order and liberty, shapes the relationship between a state and its citizens.

Learning Object

Explain how political values and beliefs frame policy choices to address particular political problems.

Essential knowledge: Post-materialism refers to social valuing of self-expression and quality of life that leads to applying pressure on governments to address environmental issues and social and economic equality.

TOPIC 5.3 Challenges from Globalization

Multinational corporations (MNCs) increasingly dominate global markets and pose challenges to, and sometimes conflict with, domestic economic policies regarding labor, the environment, land rights, taxation, and the budget.

Learning Object Explain how globalization creates challenges to regime sovereignty

Essential Knowledge: Increased economic development can cause environmental degradation and accompanying health issues that alienate citizens.

Activity

Comparative Analysis of Clean Water Access Policies and Innovations Paper for A:
Day_____ 2 90 minute courses and homework

Students will be introduced to US environmental policies which largely began in the postmaterial era. In group,, students will conduct research to analyze and compare government policies regarding access to clean water, as well as political responses to the lack of access to clean water, in the US and in one of the developing political states that serves as an AP Comparative Government and Politics case study country. Students will then research and make recommendations for policy changes and technological innovations that ill improve clean water access. Students will present their findings in a simulated hearing of the United Nations Environmental Programme.
