Introduction

The introduction section must contain (in sequence) a general background, a previous literature study (state-of-the-art) as a basis for the statement of scientific novelty of the article, a statement of scientific novelty of science, and a research problem or hypothesis. At the end of the introduction, the purpose of the article should be clearly written. In the scientific article format, it is not permissible to review the literature as in the research report, but it is manifested in the form of a previous study review (state-of-the-art) to demonstrate the scientific novelty of the article.

Method

The method section must contain research designs, research subjects, instruments, data collection procedures, and data analysis. It should be presented in the form of paragraph.

Charts and tables must be placed on the center (centered). Each table or figure must be positioned at the top or bottom of the page. The inclusion of the table or figure must be mentioned in the sentence. The text in the table uses single spaced.

Graphics are allowed in color. It should use contrasting solid coloring, both for display on a computer screen, as well as for prints in black and white, as shown in Figure 1.

Results and Discussion

The results and discussion section contains research findings obtained from the research data and hypotheses, the discussion of research results and comparison with similar theories and/or similar research. The results and discussion section can be divided into several sub-sections.

Sub-section 1

Charts and tables must be centered. Each table or figure must be numbered. The inclusion of the table or figure must be mentioned in the sentence. The text in the table uses single spaced or single space. The table only uses horizontal lines.

Sub-section 2

Please check all images in your article, both on screen and printed versions. When checking the printed version of the image, please ensure that: (1) the color has sufficient contrast; (2) the picture is quite clear; (3) all labels on the image are readable.

Conclusion

The conclusions section answers to hypotheses, research objectives and research findings as well as suggestions related to further ideas from the research. Conclusions are presented in paragraph.

Acknowledgment (Optional)

Titles for acknowledgments and references are not numbered. This part presents the acknowledgment when it is required. It should not be numbered.
