

Privacy Policy for Countify Chrome Extension

Effective Date: August 23, 2025

Introduction

Countify is a Chrome extension designed to help users analyze selected text, including word and character counts, estimated reading time, and language detection. We value your privacy and are committed to protecting your personal information. This Privacy Policy explains what data Countify collects, how it is used, and your rights regarding your information.

Information We Collect

Countify does not collect, transmit, or store any personal information or browsing data from users. The extension operates entirely within your browser and does not send any data to external servers.

Data Processed Locally

- Selected Text: When you highlight text on a webpage, Countify processes the selection locally to provide word count, character count, reading time, and language detection. This data is not transmitted or stored outside your device.
- Extension Preferences: Countify saves your feature preferences (such as enabling/disabling tooltips, reading time, multilingual support, and dark mode) using Chrome's chrome.storage.sync API. These preferences are stored locally in your browser and, if you are signed into Chrome, may be synced across your devices. No personal or sensitive information is stored.

Use of Cookies

Countify does not use cookies or any tracking technologies.

Data Sharing

Countify does not share, sell, or disclose any user data to third parties.

Third-Party Services

Countify does not integrate with or rely on any third-party services that collect user data.

Security

Countify is designed to operate entirely within your browser, minimizing any risk of data exposure. Your preferences are stored using Chrome's secure storage mechanisms.

Children's Privacy

Countify does not knowingly collect any information from children under the age of 13. The extension is suitable for general audiences.

We may update this Privacy Policy from time to time. Any changes will be posted on this page, and the effective date will be updated accordingly.
