Contact People in Power!

Below is a list of methods that have been deemed relevant to advocate for the Ridglan beagles. They are ordered in a loose hierarchical order from most important to least important. You can make your outreach as personal or impersonal as you want, the important things are to a.) demand they free the 8 beagles that were seized during the action and b.) investigate/press charges against Ridglan for felony animal abuse. See template below.

1. Contact Governor Evers
    a. govinfo@wisconsin.gov, eversinfo@wisconsin.gov
    b. Madison Office: (608) 266-1212
    c. Milwaukee Office: (414) 227-4344

Contribute towards the Ridglan rescue effort

- Support the Effort to Rescue the Ridglan Dogs
- "Zeffy relies entirely on voluntary contributions from donors. On all forms, donors have the option (but are never obliged) to contribute to Zeffy. This is our only source of revenue and allows us to cover all of the fees for the 100,000+ nonprofits that fundraise with Zeffy." (from https://www.zeffy.com/home/free-online-fundraising-platform)

Template

This template can be modified to be more demanding depending on who you're contacting and more personal if you wish. The important part is to advocate through nonviolence. It is critical that we do not come off as condemning or angry, but compassionate and firm in our moral position.

Hi [name],

I am writing to respectfully urge [org name] to support efforts to release the beagles currently held at Ridglan Farms in Blue Mounds, Wisconsin. As a Wisconsin resident, I am deeply troubled by the documented conditions at this facility and by the state's decision to permit Ridglan to continue conducting on-site experiments while also breeding additional beagles for testing.

On March 15, courageous activists successfully freed 23 beagles from the facility. As a result, these animals now have the opportunity to experience care, safety, and compassion for the remainder of their lives. We hope to see the same outcome for the approximately 2,000 beagles that remain confined in Ridglan's warehouses.

Please let me know if I can provide any additional information,

Best regards,
