Introduction

Case studies usually present a significant program intervention or policy option relevant to the journal field. Manuscripts that include a rigorous assessment of the processes, the impact of the study, and recommendations for the future will generally be considered favorably.

There are no sub-sections in the introduction, and it is recommended to consist of 4-8 paragraphs—Book Antique letters 11, space 1.15. The introductory section is an introduction that can motivate the reader to explore further in the article. The introduction explains the background of the research, the main issues based on a review of the literature (e.g., research gaps), and the aims and originality (state of the art) of the research.

The Introduction section should clearly describe the issues being faced so that readers understand the context. It should then explain the rationale for the intervention and should end with a very brief statement of what is being reported in the article. If possible, authors should also present alternative approaches to the one being described.

Studi kasus biasanya menyajikan intervensi program yang signifikan atau pilihan kebijakan yang relevan dengan bidang jurnal. Naskah yang mencakup penilaian proses yang ketat, dampak penelitian, dan rekomendasi untuk masa depan umumnya akan dipertimbangkan dengan baik.

Tidak ada sub bagian dalam pendahuluan, dan disarankan pendahuluan terdiri dari 4 – 8 paragraf. Huruf book antique 11, spasi 1.15. Bagian pendahuluan merupakan pengantar yang dapat memotivasi pembaca untuk menelusuri artikel lebih lanjut. Pendahuluan menjelaskan latar belakang penelitian, pokok permasalahan berdasarkan tinjauan literature (misalnya gap riset), dan tujuan serta originalitas (state of the art) penelitian.

Bagian Pendahuluan harus menggambarkan dengan jelas masalah yang dihadapi sehingga pembaca memahami konteksnya. Kemudian harus menjelaskan alasan intervensi dan harus diakhiri dengan pernyataan yang sangat singkat tentang apa yang dilaporkan dalam artikel. Jika memungkinkan, penulis juga harus menyajikan pendekatan alternatif dari yang sedang dijelaskan.

Case description

This section should describe the case, including the role of the people and institutions involved and how the intervention was analysed. Cost data are particularly useful for such an assessment, if available. This section may be broken into subsections with subheadings.
