Divination	Expression	Occupation	Defining Relationship
Sniff them out	Death stare	Bounty Hunter	The love of my life
One of the hellhounds greatest assets is arguably his extraordinary nose.	Legend has it that if a person looks into the eyes of a hellhound three times, they are going to die.	After a number of failed careers, the awakening of his mythos led Hellhound to become a Bounty Hunter.	Hellhound never had a lot of people in his life that he would let in. Until he met Jennifer. Sadly, one day, she was in an accident and fell into a coma she has not yet recovered from. The medical bills eat most of Hellhound's income.
Where does the trail lead?	Who really is the alpha dog?	I do this, because I'm good at it.	Until death do us part.

You probably never heard of me.

Good.

Means you haven't fucked up. Yet.

See, that's the thing about life in this city. Everybody fucks up eventually. And when they do, I'm there to collect the pieces. Don't care if you owe cash or something else. If your name comes across my desk, I'm coming for you.

Nothing personal, really. I'm in as much shit as you are. I'm just really good at hunting you down.

And I don't care who you are. You are not as important as she is.

Nothing is.
