

GRADUATE SCHOOL

I.4. Research manuscripts/technical reports are well-written, and edited following the institutional format.

Master of Science in Animal Science

I.4. Research manuscripts/technical reports are well-written, and edited following the institutional format.

The formats for terminal reports are administered by the Research development Office (RDO). This is to secure uniform formatting and information dissemination are consistent among all projects by the proponents under local funding. The format varies from terminal report to in-house and midyear review. The template is also available via online and distributed to all proponents of research.

The institution has also existing RDE Research manual indicating the format and guidelines for both undergraduate and graduate students thesis.

The USM RDE Manual 2024

