

A doc about Beewine.

TRIGGER WARNINGS: mentions of NSFW content, imagery and mentions of inappropriate behavior around minors, self-shipping with content creators, breaking cc's boundaries.

Almost all the information in the document is publicly available and was either taken from Colorcrew Fan Discord, AO3, or Bee's public and private account on twitter as well as her VK group.

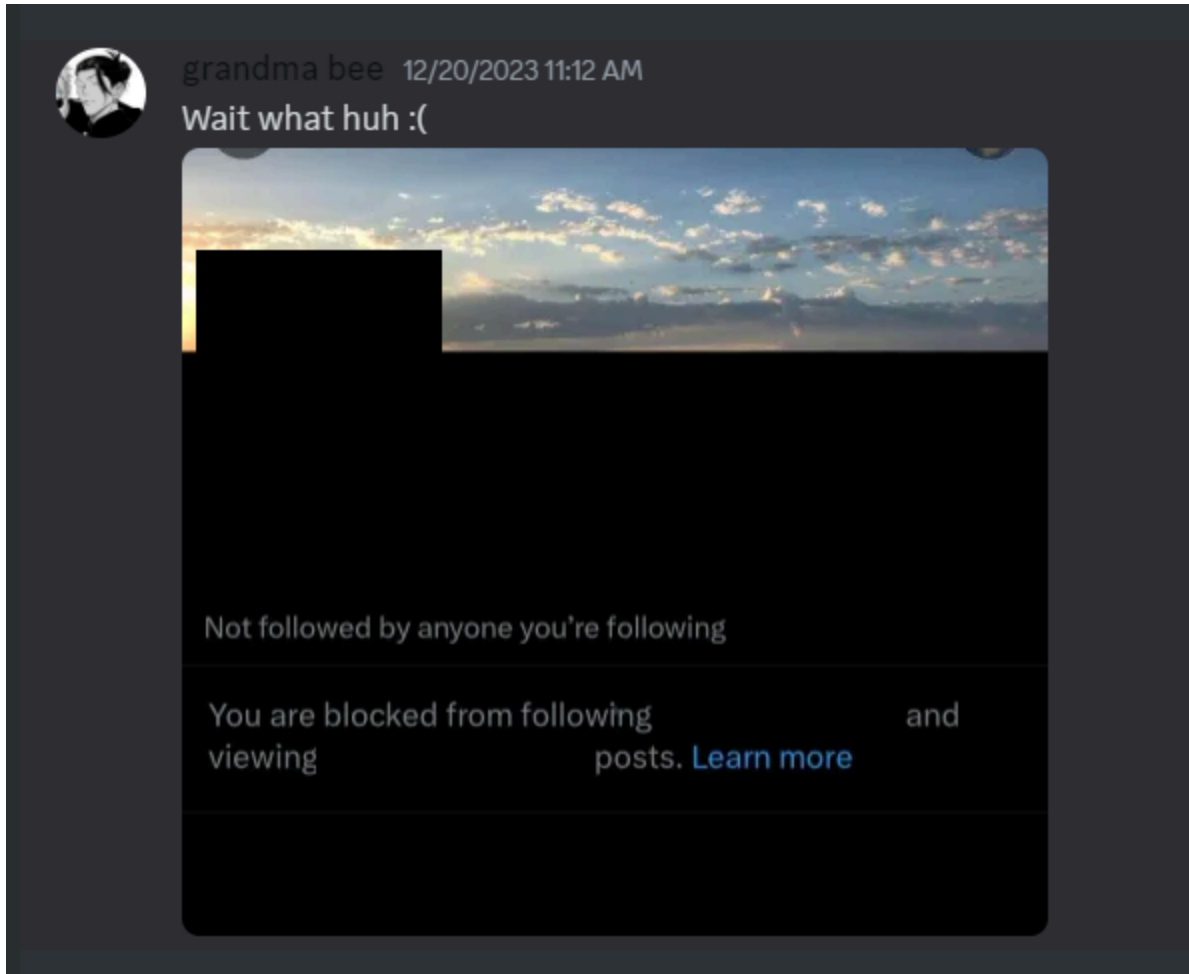

For the context of this whole document, it's extremely important to note that Beewine is 21 years old, turning 22 this year.

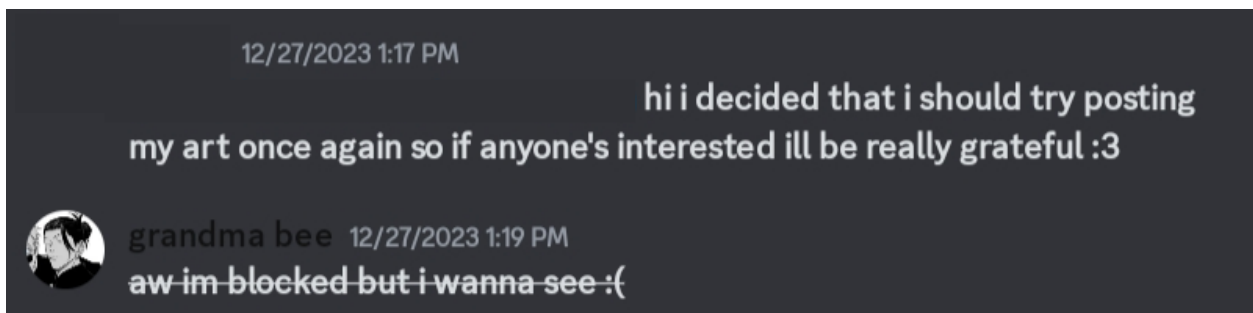

Bee's immature and selfish behavior.

While this isn't necessarily a thing that should be treated harshly, I'm writing this part for the sake of establishing Beewine's character and their general attitude towards people. If you do not think this part is important, you have the right to skip to the next one, where the real stuff begins.

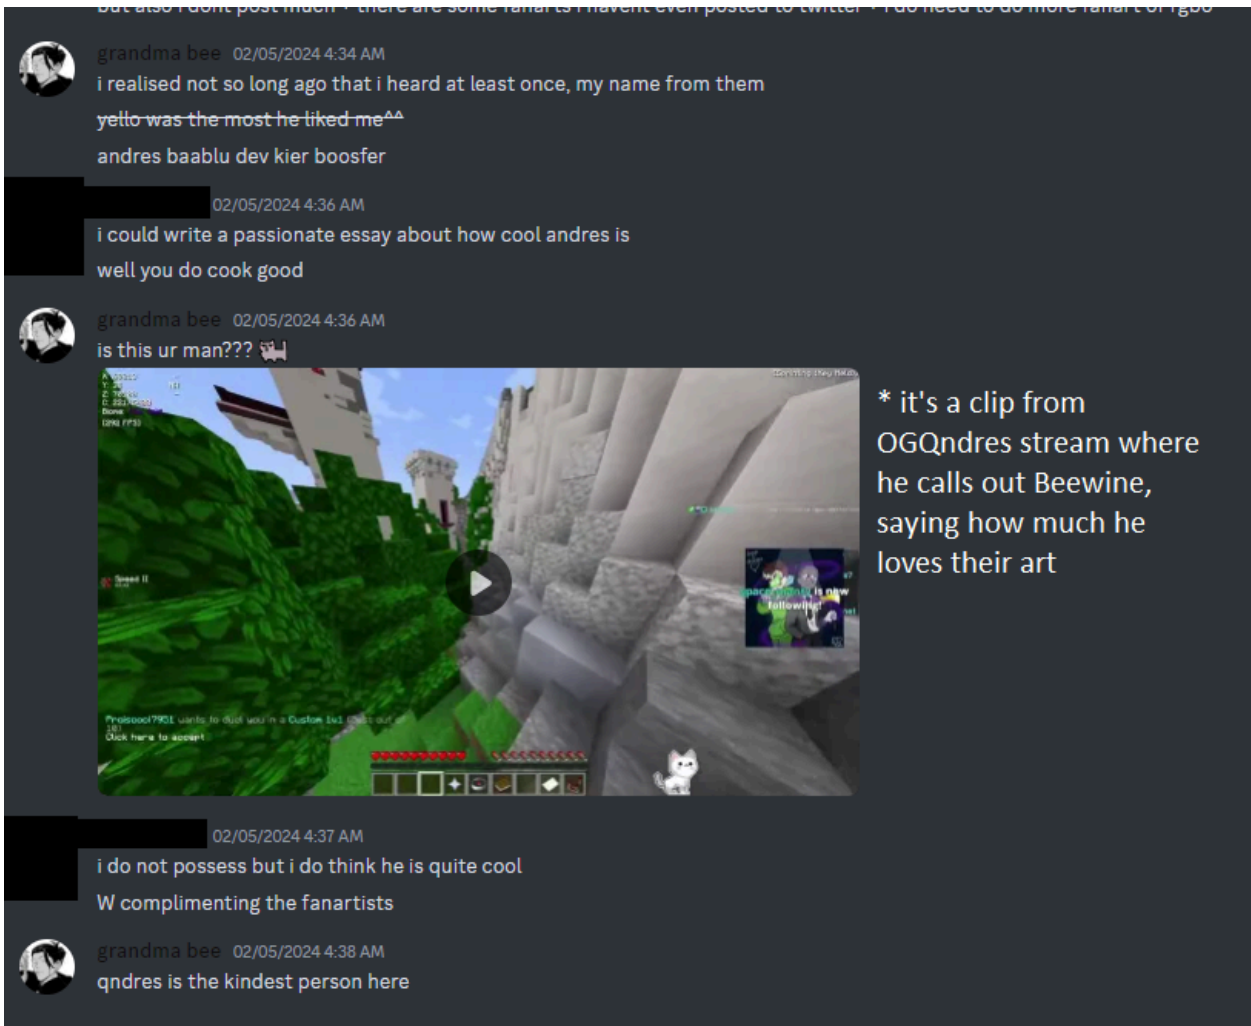

Numerous times, Bee has expressed a guilt-trippy nature, showing how sad and disappointed she was whenever she realized that someone has blocked her or does not wish to associate with her. While it's perfectly normal to feel this way, instead of discussing this issue in private as any adult should, Bee instead sent vague messages in the public CCrew discord, bringing unnecessary attention to this, as well as making people who decided to not associate with them uncomfortable.

After this message, the person has dmed me, expressing their discomfort with this situation, saying that they feel awkward for doing so and that it shouldn't be Bee's concern on why they decided to block her.

There's also a few instances where Beewine took over the conversation, making it about her, as well as sometimes bragging about being associated with content creators.

Idea is fire tho
Like imagine Dev for example
he has his arms....and Kiers and Boosfers behind him
Boosfers like covering Devs eyes and Kiers just hugging him
And different stuff with others
Idea is fire tho

(while this is not really as bad, it's important to add the context that this was in the conversation about designs and art, not about shipping RGB)

Reasons why you're popular

Beewine list

- You're recognisable
- People steal art
- People scared to text you because they think youre too cool for them
- Cc's know you
- Fanarts
- People have dreams with you

This got to the point, where other people started to point out her self-centered and weird behavior

Sub-Section: Beewine's association with YelloWool.

For context: at the start of november 2023, allegations against previous Colorcrew member Yellowool came up with accusations of liking loli- and shotacon content, as well as having some inappropriate conversations with minors. We will not discuss in this doc how right or wrong these allegations are, the important part here is Bee's reaction to them as well as her constant attempts to bring him up despite the fact that he's no longer associated with Colorcrew.

Breaking CC's boundaries

A big friend of colorcrew, Fantst, has established in the past the fact that he's not comfortable with people shipping him, as well as creating NSFW with him or his character and it's clear that Beewine does not care about this. While it could be pushed on the fact that Bee wasn't aware of that, they said this themselves:

They said that theyre fine untill they dont see it

Baablu is fine with everything

Fantst too but not with shipping

(and weird parasocial behavior in general)

While it could be a long-running joke, Bee expressed some weird behavior towards Boosfer and Dev, which sometimes could be considered almost flirty, which is not only unhealthy but also creates a parasocial relationship.

i had 5 with them

one of them is a green party

yes

there was alot of people in green clothes

but i noticed one guy who was different blonde dude with almost neon green hoodie

i decided to get closer to ask him something i dunno

but he started going away from me

i ran after him through dosens of ppl like a lil manhunt

i ran outta breath and sat on a staircase getting air

and someone approached me

outta breath beewine?

i look at him and omg thats boosfer

after that i dont remember anything

grandma bee 01/29/2024 11:36 PM

Ohh i just remembered a part of another dream

I saw Dev and Boosfer on my way to something

And Boosfer was like: pls help I don't know what to do

I look at Dev and he's hella messy, his hair is long and very curly, like a damn nest, covering his eyes

And i agreed to help them

There's some proof that Beewine and Ghost are friends and Ghost references Bee in their works as well as taking her "lore" and writing fanfiction about it. At some point Ghost wrote Bee as the creator of an AU, and while it was removed, there's this screenshot that was made by Beewine herself, that was once in Ghost's summary:

Set in an AU brought to you by beewineline. T best friends have been falling for each other

Description: PRISM is an AU based on the ColorCrew SMP, created by someone who will go unnamed here, but if you know, you know. It is a continuous WIP and has been developed quite a bit since the first fic, 'til i'm numb, was published. If at any point you notice changes to the fics in this series, it's to keep the continuity intact. It is certainly not the most elaborate or creative storyline and might just be an excuse to write filthy smut, but- yeah, no, that's it. Angst and porn. Yeah.

Notes: The currently published fics cover the following plot:

Notes: The currently published fics cover the following plot:

Kier and Dev, childhood best friends, have been falling for each other – the problem is, they both think their feelings are unrequited, and they both struggle with keeping them to themselves. Eventually, Kier leaves to take a break away from Dev.

Dev, devastated and heartbroken and lonely, turns to Boosfer. He and Dev have had a fling in the past and have some mutual attraction to each other that has never been taken seriously by either of them – Dev because he was preoccupied with pining after Kier, Boosfer because he thought he could never compete with Kier. With Kier gone though, they start hooking up and their relationship develops.

This is the description of Ghost's PRISM series, where you can read that it was created by some unnamed person, yet if you scan through the second fic in the series called "temporary bliss", you can clearly see the resemblance with the story Beewine created for RGB.

Boosfer flinched back, taken by surprise. He scrunched his nose, licked his lips, probably finding the same sweetness.

Dev watched, mesmerized, overcome by the sudden urge to kiss that sweetness of Boosfer's lips, lick into his mouth to chase every last trace of it. A heavy warmth settled in his gut and a tingling feeling spread through his body, concentrating in the ankle that had gotten him into this position. He watched as the dark bruise on Boosfer's face, where one of the hunters had landed a punch in the beginning of the game, faded to pale green skin.

Dev swallowed thickly. He didn't have healing potions on him. Only instant damage, which didn't contain enough sugar to taste so strongly, and that one love potion.

"Why did it take us so long to do that?" he asked. They should've done this the moment Dev learned that Boosfer was Sam.

"Because you're pining after Kier," Boosfer said drily.

Boosfer stilled. "I could change it."

Immediately, Dev felt guilty. He'd forgiven Boosfer for keeping the truth from him, or at least he'd thought so. Maybe this would help him finally get over it. "No. I want you like this," he said truthfully, making eye contact, "You, not Sam."

As his brain came back online, worries began to nag on Dev. The sex had been amazing and he'd do it again in a heartbeat – an inkling of guilt was undeniable, but Kier had left and didn't want him anyway – but he didn't know if Boosfer felt the same or if that was only the potion. Two years had passed since his encounter with Sam, and not everyone was as pathetic as Dev and clung to a stupid crush on the guy he fucked at a random party.

Boosfer's eyes had returned to normal, pupils no longer dilated unnaturally, and there, only visible because Dev knew what it was, were little hearts. They perfectly matched the ones in Dev's own eyes, except no-one could see his, he was sure of that. Someone would have said something by now. So why could he see Boosfer's?

grandma bee 09/24/2023 12:02 AM

accidentally messing up healing potions before the manhunt was a cruel mistake

grandma bee 10/31/2023 8:50 AM

I just noticed that I really love to put Dev into the water, like sea or ocean

Because his biggest fear is being left alone in the middle of the ocean

And I realised that its kinda fits the lore

being left alone in the middle of the ocean

Kier left him and for Dev it felt like he fell into the water and hes going deeper and deeper everyday

No one is here to save him

grandma bee 11/19/2023 10:41 AM

Lore drop for people who forgot or just didnt noticed

Kier and Dev meet HUMAN Boosfer on the tournament

And after that he decided to go green

And then knd meet him again as a knew person doesn't knowing that it was the same guy

Only Dev realised that it was him after Boosfer showed the guys that he can shapeshift

grandma bee 11/19/2023 10:51 AM

yello wasnt participating because tournament was only for people and saw him only from afar
Kier forgot him yes
Dev remembers him because they had some moments
i mean they had the longest fight in the finale (boosfer won) and then went drinking (edited) without kier
dfiogjjidfgd
Boosfer (or i as call his human form Sam) literally stole Dev

Here are some screenshots of Beewine and Ghost's conversations that she shared publicly:

(It's important to point out that Ghost has the same profile picture on every platform, so the chances that this is someone else is absolutely minimal) fun facts that Dev would tell Kier to get a reaction out of him and Kier would go "you're so weird" and Dev would defend it with "but you love whales"

As well as ignoring when a person in Colorcrew discord pointed out how Ghost is undeniably problematic, immediately switching to self-pity:

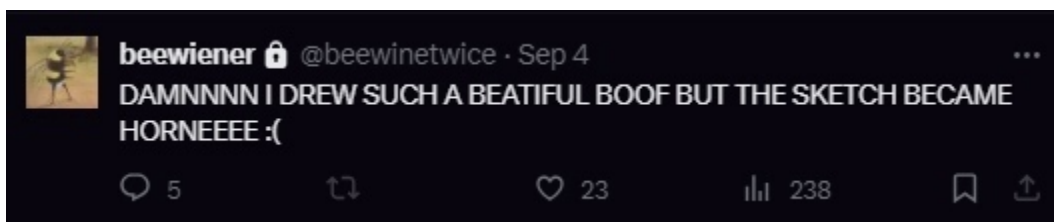

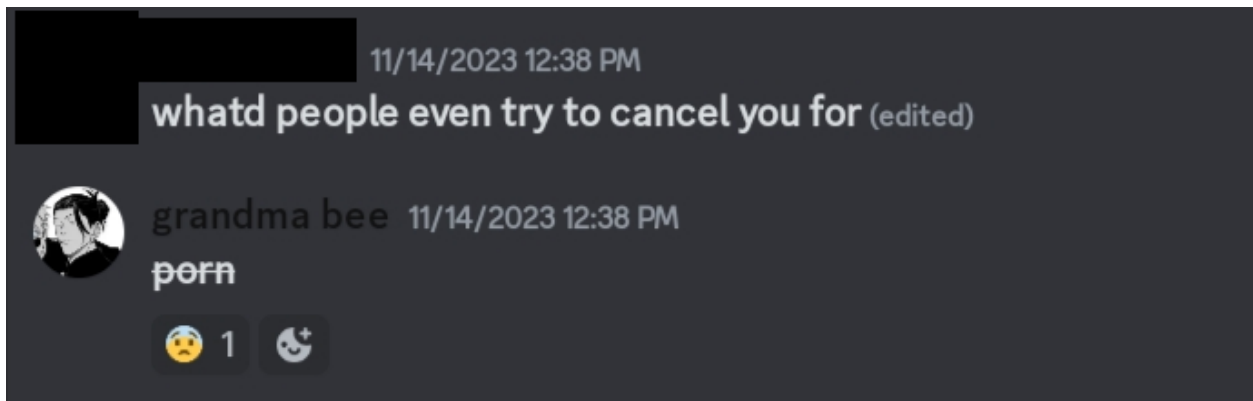

Creating NSFW content

While Beewine never really shared her sexual colorcrew content in public, there's instances of her admitting to creating it. While it's not against CC's boundaries as far as we're aware, creating NSFW content in space for mainly teenagers/kids is incredibly dangerous and should not be encouraged.

(this is an image from her private twitter, where you can see a drawing of Dev with cum in his mouth that was either Bee's or her friends pfp. It was somewhat censored for comfort.)

Following arts, as though it isn't explicitly NSFW, they're definitely more than suggestive.

Spectators

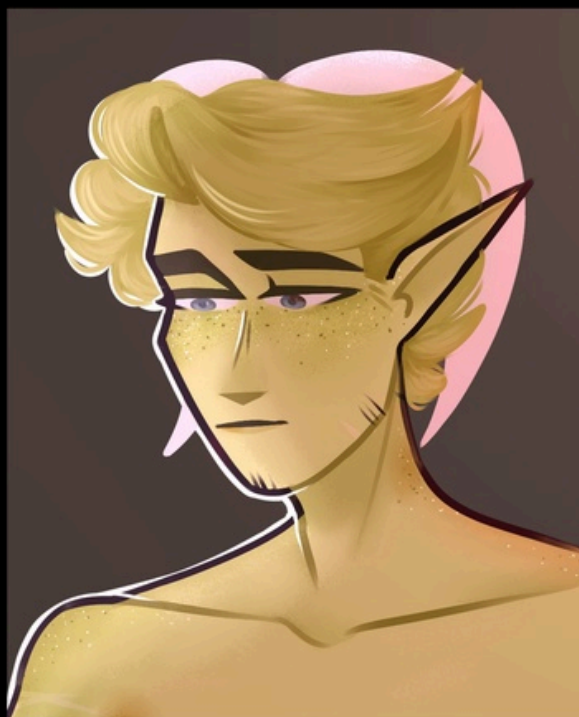

The following work was posted on russian website called VK with this caption: "Remembered on discord that Boosfer can shapeshift due to his nature and well

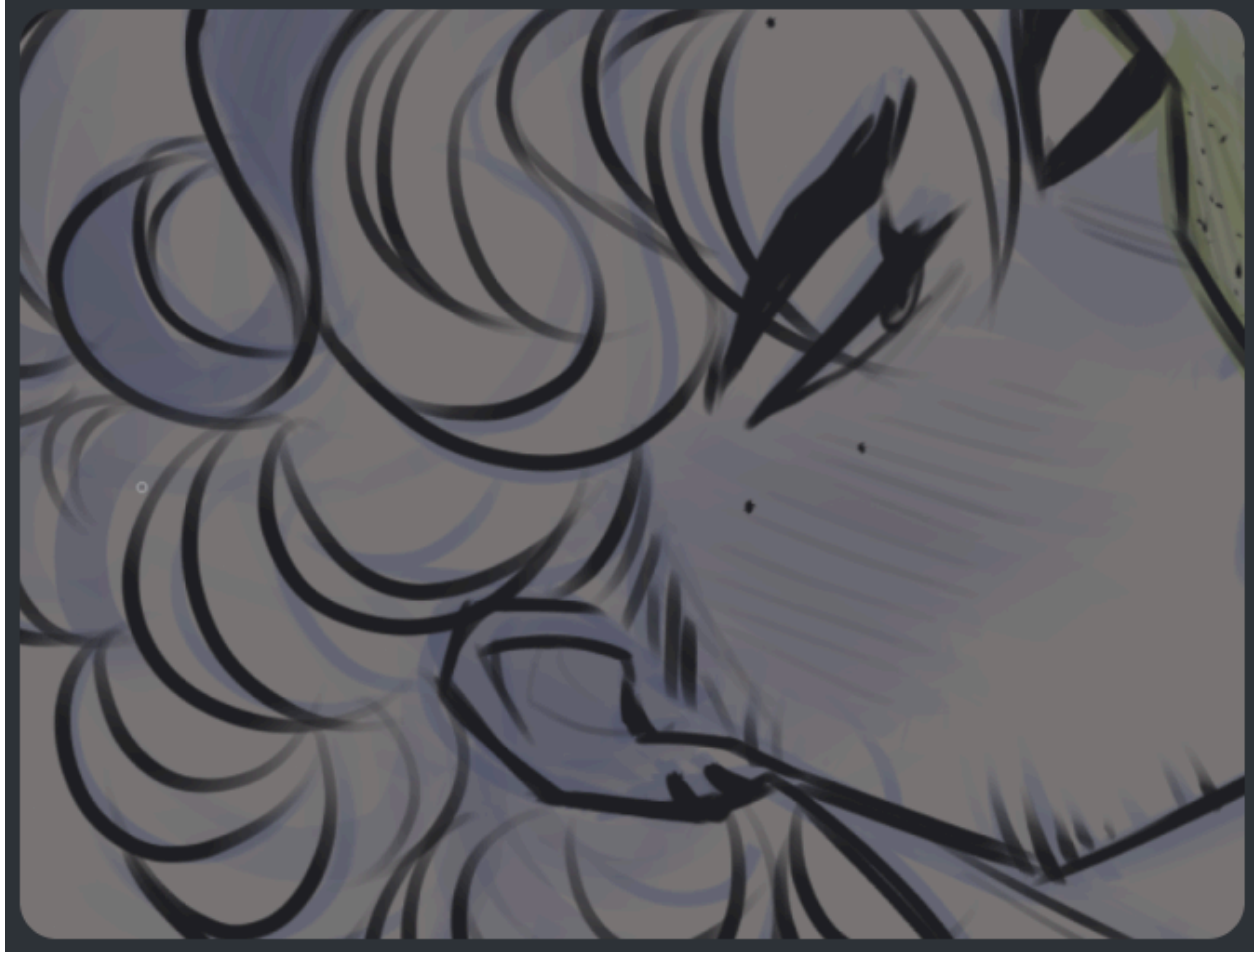

"Bro imagine Boosfer turns into Kier and go fuck Dev"

And I made a thing with them to cry

Let's congratulate Boosfer, he also has hearts in his eyes now"

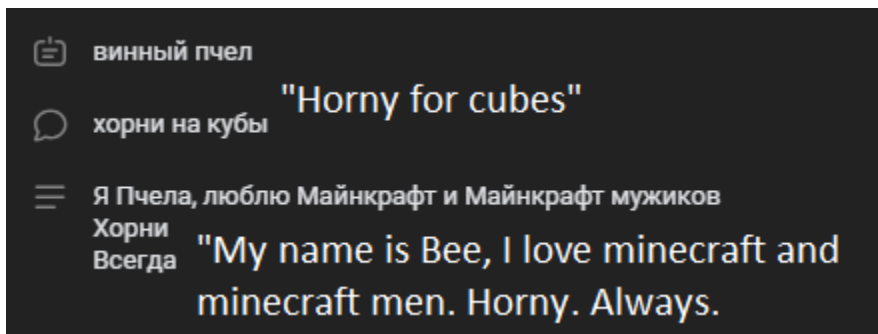

I love you...

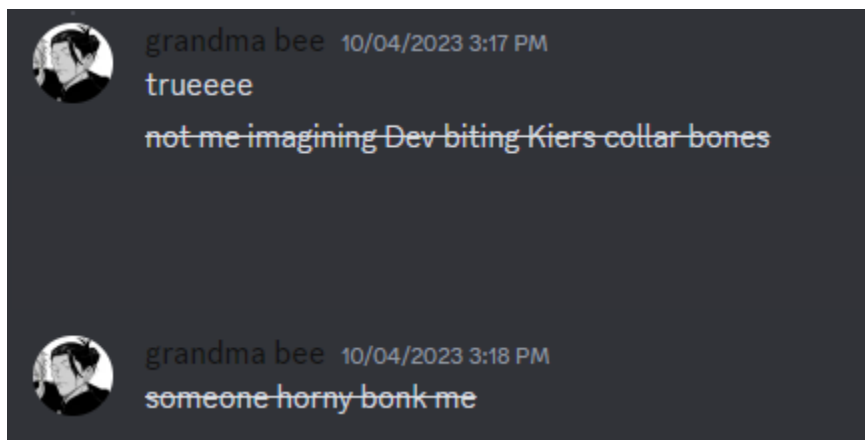

She also isn't the one to shy away from calling themselves horny in public. While it may be considered a joke, with how often Beewine repeats it, it may as well be true. Here's the description of her russian art account:

(text itself if you want to run it by google translator: хорни на кубы. Я Пчела, люблю Майнкрафт и Майнкрафт мужиков. Хорни. Всегда.)

Inappropriate behavior around minors

For context, most of the people in public fan discord server are minors, ranging from 13 to 17 respectfully. Despite that, that never stopped Bee from making horny and sexual comments about colorcrew members as well as other unrelated characters. This went as far as sending thirst traps and describing sexual content in a slightly explicit manner.
