

GOODBYE PROJECT FOR MEIMI TAMURA

First of all, sorry for my broken English.

As you surely know if you're reading this, Meimi Tamura will graduate from ANGERME on 2016, May 30th. Since I have the chance to go and see her last concert in Tokyo, I want to organize a project to help fans all over the world to tell her their feelings about the time passed with her and her plans for the future.

I'm not a really creative person so my idea will be familiar to you Hello!Pro fans: I want to make a sort of scrapbook with everyone's contributions. To fill it, you can:

- write a short message to Meimei -- just a few words, in any language you want. You can ask me to translate it if you want, but please note that I only understand French, English, Spanish and easy Japanese, and that I can only translate into very simple Japanese;
- take a photography of you holding a sign with a message or a drawing on it, or holding some goods, and/or in front of a place you like in your country, be it famous or not. You can cover your face;
- draw a picture;
- anything visual that can be included in a scrapbook.

You can choose just one or several of these options.

Please send your participation to the following address: meimiproject@gmail.com

DEADLINE: 2016 APRIL 30TH

In your mail, you will have to include your name or your nickname, and your country (add your town if you like).

As for the scrapbook form, it will depend on how many people will take part in the project. I'd like it to have a design that can evoke the world of theater, so I will do my best to work on it.

If you have any question or suggestion, please feel free to send an email to the address above.

Please feel free to spread the word!

I will place the scrapbook in the box they will surely dedicate to presents at Nippon Budoukan on the D-Day. Count on me!

To you, Meimei lovers!
