

All Booked Virtual Club Handbook

for members

Introduction:

Dear Booked Reader,

As an official member of All Booked, there are a set of rules we follow in order to maintain a positive and uplifting environment. Our mission is to provide a safe place for book worms from all around the world to discuss our favorite novels and bond over our love for reading. Meetings are not mandatory to attend but we encourage you to join. Our main communication platform is Discord, where we can talk throughout our reading and vote on books for upcoming meetings. Each new Book of The Month (BOTM), we will have Instagram discussions, post Discord questions, and organize fun activities related to the chosen book, such as jeopardy. We acknowledge that since this club is open worldwide, time zones may be a constraint when joining meetings and participating in activities so we strongly encourage Discord and Instagram participation. We are excited to get to know you all and for you to join the All Booked family!

We welcome any questions or comments and thank you for joining.
Spread the word!

Kind Regards,
All Booked Team

Expectations:

1. Please be respectful to your fellow members. While contacting them using the contact member's list, be sure to introduce yourself and give a warm greeting.
2. Please complete monthly reading and be prepared to participate in discussions. No, we aren't going to quiz you on the book because at the end of the day, even reading the book is your choice, but we hope that you will read at least 5 out of the 12 books we read together in the year.

3. Please think twice before sharing something on Discord. Will your words hurt someone?
Optionally, engage and participate in any Discord discussions. Your ideas are encouraged and no one will judge you based on your opinions
4. Review our website. You can find everything you need to know in one place in the All Booked website. It may seem like there are a lot of parts to everything but our website and linktree have everything in one place.
5. And lastly, have a fun time! This book club is meant to be a community where you can express your love of reading and we hope you get a chance to do it.
