

PhD in Healthcare Management,
Minor in Christian Business Ethics in Healthcare
HBI University

Course Duration: 3 years

Credit Hours: 105

Program Description

The Doctor of Philosophy (Ph.D.) in Healthcare Management at HBIU University is designed to develop scholars and industry leaders who are equipped to address the complexities of healthcare administration, policy development, and organizational leadership. This program provides an in-depth study of healthcare economics, strategic planning, financial management, and regulatory compliance, ensuring that graduates are prepared to drive efficiency, innovation, and ethical decision-making in healthcare organizations. By integrating both theoretical research and practical applications, students will be well-positioned for leadership roles in hospitals, healthcare institutions, government agencies, academia, and healthcare consulting firms.

The Minor in Christian Business Ethics in Healthcare specialization offers a focused exploration of the ethical challenges and moral considerations involved in managing healthcare institutions from a Christian perspective. This specialization examines topics such as ethical leadership in healthcare, faith-based corporate social responsibility, integrity in financial management, and decision-making guided by Christian values. With an increasing demand for ethical leadership in the healthcare industry, this minor equips students with the skills to navigate complex ethical dilemmas while upholding the principles of honesty, compassion, and social responsibility in healthcare administration.
