MODULE 4:

1. In the U.S. COPYRIGHT is automatic and does not require registration.
2. Works for which copyright has expired or were created by the Federal Government are in the PUBLIC DOMAIN.
3. FAIR USE is a copyright principle based on the belief that the public is entitled to freely use portions of copyrighted material for purposes of commentary and criticism.
4. When a creator OPENLY LICENSES work, they are giving the public explicit rights to reuse the work under the terms of those PERMISSIONS.

MODULE 6:

When adopting OER, you must ensure:

1. All videos must have closed captions or a transcript
2. Images must have an 'alt' text describing the image
3. All scanned images must have a readable alt text or transcript
4. All of these: We must ensure all OER are accessible
5. None of these: Because I didn't create the OER, I'm not responsible for accessibility

MODULE 7:

1. True or False: The four Creative Commons conditions are: Attribution, Share Alike, Non-Commercial, No-Derivatives
2. True or False: When reusing any work with a creative commons license, attribution is suggested, but not required as part of the license condition.

3. Using the Attribution Builder, generate an attribution statement for the following linked image: Think! by Christian Weidinger

ANS: "Think!" by Christian Weidinger is licensed under CC BY-NC-ND 4.0

MODULE 8:

After you have created your OER:

1. Use an OER evaluation rubric or checklist to self-evaluate.
2. Have a colleague peer review and offer feedback.
