

As we divide into lesson groups, keep a roster of the people in your group here. And, as you like, keep notes about how you would like to develop the lesson.

Remember, the goal is to get you to the point where you have a specific data-centric lesson that you will feel confident about teaching in your next statistics course. The workshop leaders will handle the work of deploying that lesson in the tutorial system, either for you to use as lecture notes or as a classroom activity.
