Curling Etiquette

Etiquette is the courtesy and sportsmanship that you show your teammates and your opponents so that everyone can enjoy the game and play as well as possible without being distracted.

Before the game:

- Respect the starting time of your game.
- If you are unable to play, inform your skip and find someone (a spare) to play for you. It is your responsibility to find a substitute player.
- If you expect to be late, inform your skip or another member of your team.
- If possible, be on the ice at game time.
- Shake hands with your opponents, tell them your name and wish them good curling.

During the game:

- Be ready when it is your turn to deliver a rock, or your teammates’ turn to deliver a rock.
- Be quiet and do not move when your opponent is about to deliver a rock.
- Stay on your own sheet of ice preferably close to the outside of the sheet when it is the opposition’s turn.
- Pay attention to what is going on in your game. Use the opportunity to learn when a rock needs sweeping or to learn game strategy.
- Compliment any player on a good shot. Do not show your frustration at an opponent’s lucky shot or a teammate’s poor shot.
- If you touch a moving rock while you are sweeping, tell your skip immediately but do not stop the rock, unless told to by your skip.

After the game:

- Give each of your teammates and opponents a handshake and thank them for the game before leaving the ice.
- If you won the game, offer to buy our opponent (same position as you) a drink.
- If you lost the game, offer to reciprocate after the first drink.
- Offer to help any new curler or new member of the club with information about curling or the Club. Do not critique the skills of new members publicly, nor complain about your team’s misfortune.

Member Curling is Wrapping Up

March is our final month of curling for this season. We have had a very busy year with many new people trying out this well loved sport. Our Norfolk night had 8 curlers, the first time this year we were not sold out. While we missed our fellow curlers who were busy elsewhere, good curling was had by those who were there. Curlers were able to focus on skills and form improving their game.

Our final two events are all on dedicated ice and promise to wrap up our season with not only good curling but joyful broomstacking.

Discover Curling

On February 24th Discover Curling was sponsored by the City of Pittsfield's 10 x 10 Festival of Outdoor Activities. We had 32 people Discover what curling is all about. This was full capacity with 4 sheets of curlers undergoing instruction. What a blast! We encourage any and all of these folks new to curling to come back and try it again. Consider becoming a member, then you can try it again at any event on the schedule.

TAM Bonspiel at Albany Curling Club

Curl Berkshires were the D event runners-up (Curl-ella de Berkshireville: Peter O'Neill, Cindy Nasman, Yoanna Maitre, Rick Nasman) and C event semifinalists (Ice Demons: Gordon Prescott, Maryellen Prescott, Karen Zinchuk, Mike Zinchuk) at the Albany TAM Bonspiel. The Cruella de Berkshireville team entered the costume contest. While they did not win they did show tremendous spirit. Great curling was had by both of our CurlBerkshires teams.

Upcoming Bonspiels

We encourage you to consider entering a bonspiel this year. Think you haven't been playing long enough or aren't good enough? Bonspiels shouldn't be intimidating, they're actually a GREAT way to get MORE experience: you are typically guaranteed a minimum of three games, allowing you to develop your skills on great ice. You will also have the opportunity to socialize with curlers from other clubs, and maybe even learn some strategy while watching other matches. Best of all, winners buy the first round of drinks at broomstacking (after the match) so you really can't lose!

Additional local events and those further afield can be found online at:
