

FROM BIG HERO 6

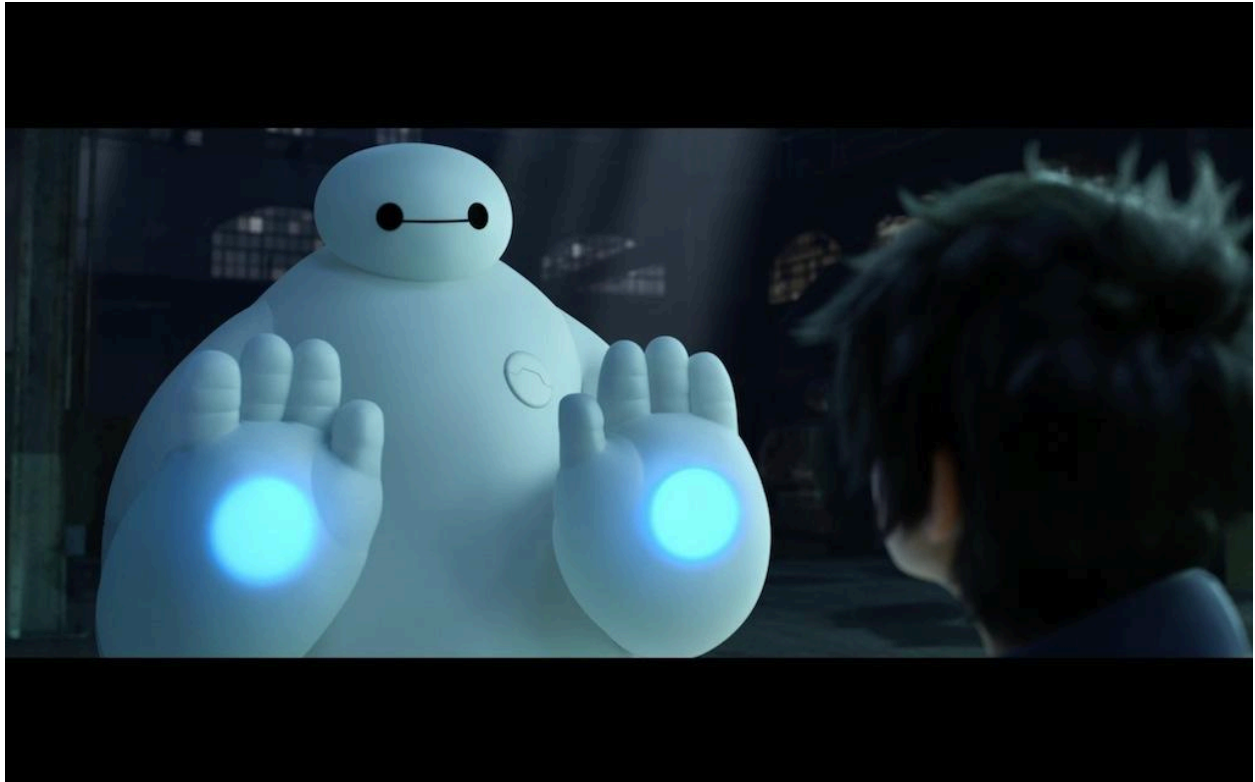

“Hello, I am Baymax, your personal healthcare companion. I was alerted to the need for medical attention when you said, ‘ow.’ On a scale of one to ten how would you rate your pain? I will scan you now... scan complete. You have a slight epidermal abrasion on your forearm. I suggest an antibacterial spray. I am a robot; I can not be offended. You have been a good boy; have a lollipop! I can not deactivate until you say you are satisfied with your care.”

Baymax is a cute, white, healthcare companion robot that is programed to help with your health until you are satisfied with your care. His huggable design is good for helping with depression, warming or cooling people, or looking cuter, but not ideal for fighting, fitting through tight spots, and running.

Baymax has defibrillators in his hands in case of a heart attack. He has a screen, he can program your computer, and he can contact friends or family.

Baymax's chip

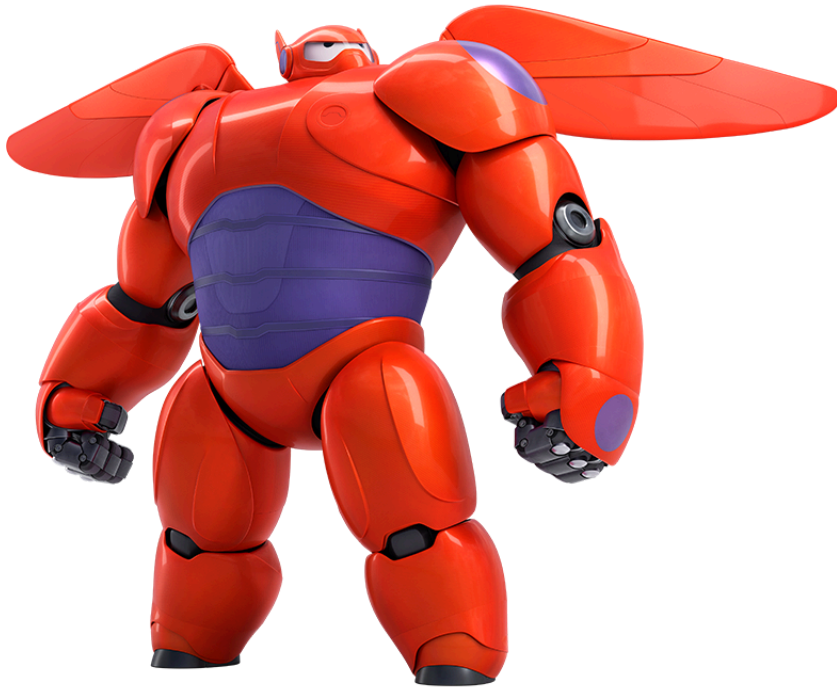

Baymax becomes Hiro's best friend and soon finds himself having to fight. Hiro adds a second chip that helps him fight a lot better. He also puts on a suit that barely fits and has lots of features.

Baymax's suit can fly, shoot off a fist rocket, and fight

Baymax's charger is quite cool. He comes out when someone says, "ow." He deflates to get in his charger and inflates to get out.

Baymax is my favorite robot. He has such a nice, funny, and kind of serious personality. I hope you liked my paper on him.

The End
