===NOTES GO HERE===

Drupal Summer Lab

email: Adam Shepherd (adam@whoi.edu) for ideas, suggestions,

- NOTE: contact Corrina about conflicts for SUMmer Lab scheduling
- email me if anyone else has a conflict
- remote: remember the mic, not loud enough, or lots of static via Crystal
- remote: monitor the chat channel (make sure the student is hip to the issues)
- record the community talks too
- Google Hangout possible (post result to YouTube)
  - check in with Inigo about how

Ideas for Topics

- "Cite this Page" (DataCite, EZID - <http://ezid.cdlib.org/>) reference the survey results
- Not make the Survey results public. JUST INTERNAL TO OUR GROUP b/c of privacy concerns

Collaborations with other WGs

- Consider carefully in terms of extra work involved
- Semantic Web mentioned as possible collaboration

Getting Improved Attendance at Meetings (Justification)

- poster session for Drupal
- invitations to give presentations
- financial justification for superiors
- collate the suggestions with a name => then the named can point to that as justification
  - vs. the symposium of chair friends
  - "document the dynamic"

Upcoming Telecon - Digital Object Citation (Datasets, Websites, and Metadata)

- Janine (NCAR)
- Crystal (NASA)
- Inigo (LTER)

ACTION ITEMS

1. Email the Survey around to the mailing list
2. Start a conversation on the mailing list for the Digital Object Citation telecon
3. Email the winners of hte

How To Submit a Summer Meeting Session

We're inviting proposals for sessions and presentations from technical practitioners, scientist and educators for the Summer Meeting. We want to hear stories and innovation from around the Earth science community crossing sectors and organizations. We're interested in success stories and cautionary tales; best practices and abject failures; lessons of the past and visions of the future. While the theme focuses on data-driven community resilience, sessions are welcome on all topics relevant to ESIP. Submit your ideas to the ESIP Commons \(Instructions\). Sessions are due by April 27, 2015.

1. Log- in to the user account from the home page <http://commons.esipfed.org>
2. Using the black menu bar above the header select the item Add content
3. Add content will return a list of available content types. Click "Meeting Session".
4. Meeting Session will open a new meeting session form. Fill in all applicable blanks
  1. Event is autoselected to the upcoming meeting.
  2. Keywords - use a comma to separate
  3. Collaboration Areas - holding down the alt/option key allows you to select more than one item.
  4. Author field - If your name isn't on the list, click red add new and a form will pop-up to add a new author/Institution.
  5. DOI or EZ ID- leave blank
  6. Choosing Creative Commons- three different options, or none.

5. At this point you can preview your entry. By scrolling down I could edit the entry without having to select an edit function.
6. Save and then submit.
