

Character Information: Girlfriend

Who is Girlfriend and what is she?

Girlfriend is a succubus demon-turned-Crystal Demon character and the deuteragonist of Future Night Funkin'. She's the daughter of the Dearest Family and Boyfriend's girlfriend for 10 years, regardless of the events of what her parents are gonna do to him. No matter what they'll do to Boyfriend, she'll always stay by his side. She was once a succubus demon but became a Crystal Demon right after she fused with a Spectral Green Crystal.

Personality

Portrayed as a young, mysterious woman with a love for cherry soda and her boyfriend, Girlfriend is a calm, collected and powerful demon who tends to hide her powers but often uses her powers when she thinks the situation is dangerous. She is always seen with Boyfriend at her side, courtesy of true love, as she genuinely loves him very much and because of her love for him, she gave away too much of her trust inside Boyfriend and left her to be very fearless and overconfident.

Like Boyfriend, Girlfriend lacks intelligence and because of this, as stated before, she's fearless (except lightning) and overconfident; her overpowering abilities are the results of her overconfidence. Her lack of intelligence can result in her getting into difficult situations, such as getting her hand stuck in peanut butter jugs and having to wait for hours for someone to help get it out. However, she is still capable of making smart decisions and knows what to do when dealing with taxes and facing death, making her an on & off intelligent demon.

Girlfriend is an ADHD and ASD person; she often communicates verbally with those whom he is close with (i.e: Boyfriend). Furthermore, she occasionally has poor object permanence. Girlfriend's talents as an artist and painter show that she is a creative individual. She has a poor concept of time, too, which is a common ADHD trait. She doesn't know very well how to handle money, either; she will normally make commissions (due to being an artist), but she will ask for 1 trillion dollars, or when she has to pay for a hamburger, she will pay less than what the hamburger costs.

Described by one of the og FNF devs, Girlfriend is said to be a mean person "in her own special way." Like Boyfriend, she also likes to do immoral things, appearing to not care about the consequences of her actions as long as she gets what she wants. For instance, using her mother's limousine, she and Boyfriend hold up McDonald's drive-through slots as they hold the store hostage to get whatever food they want.

In Future Night Funkin', Girlfriend is the same as her original self but with a lot of differences aside. For this version of Girlfriend, her overconfidence is at the same level as Boyfriend, still truly believing in Boyfriend, with the power of level, to think she'll be safe with him and because of her (unrealized) dumb love, she gave away too much trust inside Boyfriend to think he can beat anyone, rather if his opponent is stronger than him by look or he believes his opponent is weak and giving them one hit is enough to give them defeat while not realizing their true nature is considerably strong despite their weak look. She even taunts her opponents to increase the danger level to fit Boyfriend's mood but this only happens by time.

Like Boyfriend, she's still unintelligent and due to this, Girlfriend can sometimes show her childish side, curiously presses or touches things that she's not allowed to press or touch and approaches against things that look very suspicious. Like Boyfriend, her ADHD is still part of her mentality and 6 ADHD traits are being managed by Pico (mainly, time management, forgetfulness, impulsivity, fatigue, hyperfocus and disorganization).

Unlike her original self of how she acts immoral, Future! GF's immorality is shown to be a different type. Stated by the og FNF devs, Girlfriend is considerably rude in her own special way while FutureNF shows her being rude in her own special way and in her own immoral style at the same time, showing her how inappropriate she is during interaction with other people but tries to do so by Pico's advices. Girlfriend doesn't care about things that are completely wrong; not being concerned about her family and friends, delaying time to save people who are in danger and encouraging people in a wrong way, even talking to people in a wrong way when they feel down, almost making her a villain and a jerk, however, while being a jerk, she's not a villain. Girlfriend is actually a hero but with a mental illness and misguided at the same time. While being immoral, she's a friendly person.

As a succubus, Girlfriend has a seductive accent, which can be unnerving for younger audiences to hear and tempting for [blank]ns, embodying herself as the Sin of Lust; being bonded with [blank], she's willing to have [blank] with Boyfriend to obtain [blank] at every night, but if he falls asleep when forgetting to have their specific time together, she'll fly off to find a [blank]n and once she's done [blank]ing a [blank]n, she returns home like if she had [blank] with BF. She does this to empower herself and when she wants to have an outnumbering [blank], she'll definitely do it. She likes to tease people in her own ways and it's something that's completely inappropriate.

History

Girlfriend's past is shown to be the same as her original self, given birth by Daddy Dearest and Mommy Mearest, approached by a man in the pursuit of love, which led the man to be trapped in her favorite game for 14 years and later meets and falls in love with Boyfriend thanks to his fingerboard tricks; started dating each other then the Dearest Family tried to kill him, leading the family to accept him into the family, and others tried but failed by personal reasons and more. Sometime around before 10 years could be passed, Girlfriend notices that Pico is trying to steal Boyfriend away from her because he wants to start all over again like how he started with Boyfriend at the beginning, however, Girlfriend would always win Boyfriend's heart whenever Pico tries to win his heart. This led the two to grow more of their rivalry. 10 years later, Girlfriend disappears, which led Boyfriend to try to find her but everything was effortless then she writes a note for Boyfriend to climb upon Pico's DJ stage. Right after he climbed on the stage, she reunites with Boyfriend and she reveals that she was preparing a love song for the duo. When Dearest finds out about their upcoming marriage, he doesn't feel welcome at all and now, it's time for the duo to return to their old school classics one more time.

What are her powers and abilities?

Girlfriend's powers remain the same as her original self, having multiple powerful abilities, like using demon magic and shapeshifting, such as giving herself a [blank], however, thanks to touching the Spectral Green Crystal, it gave Girlfriend new powers she never had in her life. The most common is crystal manipulation, regenerative healing factor, invincibility, virus immunity and emotion empowerment but the uncommon is music-based powers while she retains her succubus-based powers.

Music Empowerment: As she's fused with the Spectral Green Crystal, Girlfriend can be empowered by music and the more she uses music, she becomes stronger, however, it depends on the genre that represents human emotion and while other genres can empower him, Girlfriend can be more empowered by her favorite genre.

Dance Combat: Girlfriend is capable of performing physical combat but through infusing dance in her physical attacks having the ability to move from one attack to the next effortlessly while being graceful and elegant. She can dodge attacks easily and execute combat with little problem. She performs this move when he feels like it, challenged to a combat-based dance battle or when she's surrounded.

Emotion Empowerment: As the Crystals can be empowered by emotion, Spectral Green Crystal can be empowered by excitement or by music's genre that represents emotions. For example, rock, heavy metal for anger, lullaby for exhaustion, eerie for fear, etc.

Sonic Scream: Girlfriend can emit an extremely powerful scream for a variety of purposes from their vocal cord and mouth, typically for offensive purposes, like causing destruction. Sonic Scream must be required to be extremely loud and have a perfect aim. Once she starts, Girlfriend can't stop until all the energy is released.

Lust Manipulation: As a succubus demon, Girlfriend has the ability to control lust by increasing, decreasing, causing or otherwise channeling lust, even manifesting the emotional energy and almost all kinds of desires to physical level. She uses this ability on Boyfriend whenever he wants to feel lustful.

[blank] Empowerment: As a succubus demon, Girlfriend can be empowered through any [blank]ual acts or absorbing them with her vagina (empowering through [blank]ual acts prefers the best to her). This ranges from recharging her energy to making her powerful enough to defeat even gods, depending how far she goes or how many men she does it with at once.

Intelligence: While being fully unintelligent, Girlfriend can sometimes be intelligent, such as how to avoid death and paying taxes, however, it's always on & off. She always turns off her brain but often switches on.

Power Rank

Power Ranks are important for characters to see how smart, strong, fast, handy, durable and capable of magic are. The rank on this document uses colored text to present their level.

What is her height and weight?

From her original game, Girlfriend was introduced as a midget-sized/chibi styled character, showing her having a child-sized height. However, it's actually by popular belief. While her height is accurately unknown, she's said to be taller than Boyfriend. This would mean her chibi styled height was actually a fakeout to cover her actual height. Said by Ninjamuffin himself, Girlfriend's said to be 900 lbs (408 kg), however, from her sprites and artworks made by her original designer, PhantomArcade, she's shown to be skinny while a doodle depicts her as a person of size. It's possible that she's using her shapeshifting abilities to look skinny like her mother or perhaps out of true love, however, this is yet to be confirmed by the og devs themselves.

Who are her friends and enemies?

Like Boyfriend, Girlfriend has a lot of enemies when it comes to Boyfriend challenging anyone in a rap battle and while her family can be considered as her enemies, she still loves them regardless of their murder attempts. She doesn't seem to be aware of Pico's dislikes towards Girlfriend and considers him as her best friend. As the time passes on, Girlfriend notices that Pico is trying to steal Boyfriend away from her because he wants to start all over again like how he started with Boyfriend at the beginning, however, Girlfriend would always win Boyfriend's heart whenever Pico tries to win his heart. This led the two to grow more of their rivalry. She's shown to be friends with Darnell and Nene.

Diagnosis?

Like Boyfriend, Girlfriend has been diagnosed with ADHD and ASD. She often communicates verbally with those whom he is close with (i.e: Boyfriend). Furthermore, she occasionally has poor object permanence. Girlfriend's talents as an artist and painter show that she is a creative individual. She has a poor concept of time, too, which is a common ADHD trait. This shows her as a neurodivergent and also, an autistic person.

What is her alignment?

Girlfriend's alignment is on its good side but there are times she could act neutral as the og FNF devs stated that she's described as a mean person in her own special way.

What are her favorites?

Favorite Food: Cherry Pepper

Family

Girlfriend has Daddy Dearest and Mommy Mearest as her parents, a rat named Ritz as her future adoptive brother-in-law and Boyfriend as her fiance and future husband. This would have Boyfriend's unnamed parents as her future parents-in-law.

Trivia

- Girlfriend still retains all of her facts from her original self as this version of Girlfriend is the future version of the original Girlfriend, however, some of the facts were removed from her personality due to TimeoutArtist finding them as a joke more than a serious thing. For instance, like to perform immoral acts depicted by the FNF devs, can defeat Darth Vader, holding McDonald's hostage, etc. This makes her an alternate futuristic version of Girlfriend.
- Her immoral act performance was later readdded and altered to fit Timeout's mood rather than being immorally destructive.
- Like Boyfriend, Girlfriend was meant to have a personality that is completely out of her original self's personality, however, this was scrapped, possibly due to the community giving Girlfriend an out-of-character personality too much for their mods. For example, giving the aspects of fearing Whitty, Ruv, etc.
- Her supposed design was meant to be based on her Hololive Funkin' counterpart but this was changed into something new.
- Her new design is based on and inspired by Storyfell Chara. Additionally, the design Timeout found and inspired by was a fan-design than the official or user-interpreted designs before being deleted from Tumblr and being posted as a Pinterest image. He still keeps it in his folder.
- Originally, Tabi was meant to be part of the story and her discovery of seeing Tabi becoming cursed would led her to become depressed and perform suicide, but this was scrapped as it wouldn't fit her character well.
- Her new render is based on Girlfriend's corrupted up pose from Corruption during Yandere Attack.
- If Girlfriend met alternate versions of herself, it would go like this:
- Original Self: Her original self would not recognize her and interact as strangers then by time passes on, they would become friends. She would also compete with each other in any game they choose to win against each other and if Future or her original self won, both would draw [blank] of themselves.
- Soft Self: Like how her original self became friends with Boyfriend's soft self, Future would interact with her soft self as friends.
- Neo Self: Future would consider her Neo self, "the shiniest gal I ever met".
- B3 Self: Future would call her B3 self, "vampire" because she's indeed a vampire and her family is also a vampire as well.
- SNS Self: Future would be confused why her SNS self is not sitting on the speakers but BF is, leaving her unaware of the fact that she takes Boyfriend's place, presumably replacing him.
- HD Self: Her HD self would hate Future a lot in usual for her stupidity and whenever she's in danger, HD would drag and run away with her from the situation Future has been involved with.
- D-Side Self: Future would consider competing against her D-Side self in any game they choose to win against each other and if Future wins, she would always pinch her freckles while her D-Side self would scribble on her face at every time she loses.
- Funkin' MIX Self: Future would be a reminder of her mother and call her, "Mom", however, it's unknown if her MIX self is okay to be called by that.

- Plants Vs Rappers Self: Future would always have her PVR self, trapped in a cage and feed her with normal food without being aware that zombies need flesh to survive.
- Horror Tales Self (MCM): Future wouldn't recognize her Horror Tales self because she's in a different costume and a French person.
- From Girlfriend's render, she's shown to be crosseyed. This is supported by the og FNF devs, stating that she's crosseyed. Prior to her crosseyed appearance, she was meant to have non-crosseyed appearance but thanks to Corporal Pig from Angry Birds Toons, Timeout got the eyes lore-accurate.
- In her old lore, Tabi was said to be part of the main mod's story, however, he got scrapped due to narrative changes and now has been moved to "Above the Future" with his own standalone story.
- From her aforementioned old lore, she was meant to fall into a depressed state after she saw her dad cursing Tabi into an invisible man with a floating goat skull and hands, leading her to get crashed by a truck, however, this was also scrapped because the theme sounded too depressing.
- By that time when Tabi was part of the story, BF and GF were out of their original character personality instead of being stupid, carefree, cheerful and fearless, however, after Timeout's proper character research on the couple, this became a subject to change into what is now and known.
