

To my supporters,

I would like to extend a thank you to those behind my campaign that has gotten me this far. Without your unwavering support, our message would not have been carried this far. Thanks to all the protesters, activists, canvassers, unionists- thank you to everyone who shares our vision of a better America to live in. Though I look forward to the election results, the fight is far from over.

It is only the beginning.

Continue to resist, continue to fight, continue to tell the corporate, neoliberal overlords that their time of greed and absolute control over. Continue to fight for your fellow man, for your brothers and sisters in our struggle to take our country and our lives back. Continue to fight for your right to organize, your right to education, your fight for a safe planet and for a decent life. But, remember, there will be those who try to stop us. It will never be easy, but so long as we unite and push forward as we have with this campaign- Our Time Will Come. Be prepared for peace, but be ready for war.

Thank you for your support,

Solidarity Forever,

Conquistador