The abstract is written no more than 200 words containing summaries ranging from introduction to conclusions. Explanation of analytical methods and analysis results in abstract are not mathematical or visual, but in the form of narration and followed by with three to five keywords. (12pt)

Keywords: Keyword 1, Keyword 2, Keyword 3 (maximum 5)

INTRODUCTION (bold, 12 pt)

The introduction contains a basic and concise description (but not a summary) of the background of the study and a relevant literature review is inserted, the purpose of the study, and restrictions on the required problems. (12pt)

LITERATURE REVIEW AND HYPOTHESIS DEVELOPMENT (IF ANY)

This section contains a literature review that serves as a support for the research concept. Literature review is not limited to theory, but also empirical evidence. The research hypothesis (if any) must be built from theoretical concepts and supported by empirical studies (previous research). [Times New Roman 12, normal].

RESEARCH METHODS (bold, 12 pt)

This section contains a brief description of the object of research and the time of the study, if necessary mention the characteristics of the population and sample selected and the method of sample selection. The identification and operation of variables is described in a solid and basic way, the outline of the data collection methods and the data analysis methods used without having to include their definitions and must be numbered in parenthesis and right alignment. (12pt)

RESULT ANALYSIS (bold, 12 pt)

In the analysis section of the research results that need to be stated is proof whether the results of the analysis of the data collected can prove the hypothesis proposed. (12pt)

INTERPRETATION (bold, 12 pt)

In this section, the authors of scientific journals conduct studies between the findings of the results of the analysis of research results with the theory underlying the journal title, as well as providing a discussion that is related to the observations or answers to the questionnaire.

CONCLUSION (bold, 12 pt)

Conclusions are concise and precise statements based on the results of research and discussion related to the research problem. Conclusions should be stated in paragraphs.

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS (IF ANY)

The acknowledgments include the appreciation given by the author to those who have played a role in the research, both in the form of financial support, licensing, consultants, and assistance in data collection. .[Times New Roman 12, normal].

REFERENCES (bold, 12 pt)

All the references that used in the article must be listed in this part. The references must be taken from primary source (at least 50% from all references) that published in the last 10 years. Each article should has at least 15 reference. The writing format that used in JEMBAR follows the format applied by APA (American Psychological Association) 7th Edition. It is recommended to use a reference application management, such as Mendeley, End Note or Zetero.
