

1. Rewrite the sentences with the correct form of the vocabulary word. Do not add words.

You have to think about what part of speech fits in each sentence. If you like, click the links to see the different parts of speech on Longman's Dictionary site (look near the bottom right of the page). For now, disregard the errors in punctuation.

- a. Although the student lives in a (communism) country he always thinks about how to make money through business.
Although the student lives in a communist country, he always thinks about how to make money through business.
- b. The student is very (determine) to learn English as fast as possible, as she wants to attend university in the fall.
- c. The police are unsure where to look next in their (investigate). So they are asking the public for help.
- d. The political (controversial) is giving newspapers a great source of material to write about and they are selling lots of copies.
- e. In his country, the government (restriction) the amount of tobacco you can bring back when traveling abroad, because they charge a lot of tax on cigarettes.
- f. Although the USA was capitalist, and the USSR was communist the two countries formed an (Allies) during WWII.

- g. Arnold Schwarzenegger (governor) California, until 2010.
- h. The criminal's lawyers fought for his (innocent) but were unable to stop his execution.
- i. Because many people (opponent) the death penalty in my country murderers are now always sentenced to life in jail.
- j. While political campaigns are a great way to see what candidates believe elections in the USA are usually decided by how much money the candidates have to (funds) their campaigns.

2. Once the answers have been discussed with a partner, group, or as a class, go back to the sentences above and correct the errors in punctuation.