

2023 NMBTF Hospital and Clinic Summit Health Equity For All: Supporting High Risk Populations

Objectives:

*Understanding substance use disorder and its effects on lactation (option available to families with substance use disorder who wish to breast/chestfeed)

*Addressing access to prenatal lactation care in lactation deserts.

*Lactation options available to families in high risk pregnancies and NICU babies.

Hybrid September 22nd

8:30-12:30

San Juan College

4601 College Blvd • Farmington, NM • 87401

Zia Conference Center, Located in the HHPC

Time	Credits	Topic & Speaker
8:30 am-9:00 am		Welcome: Baby Friendly Update and Breakfast
9:00 am-10 am	1	Virtual: Laurel Wilson: Up In Smoke: The Potential Health Impact of Cannabis Use During Pregnancy and Lactation on the Baby.
10:00 am-10:10 am		Break
10:10 am-11:10 am	1	Improving collaboration to decrease lactation deserts: interactive session Ora Nez: Lactation Care within the Navajo Nation from a Peer Counselor's perspective. 30 min panel sharing lived experience providing care in a rural community followed by a 30 min brainstorming session "mapping resources within their community"
11:10 am-12:10 pm	1	Rebecca Servoss: Lactation options available to families in high risk pregnancies and NICU babies
12:10 pm-12:25pm	.25	Evaluation

*This nursing continuing professional development activity was submitted for approval to New Mexico Nurses Association, an accredited approver by the American Nurses Credentialing Center's Commission on Accreditation.

*Awarded 3.25 Contact Hours when evaluation is passed with a 70% or higher

*No speaker, exhibitor or sponsor has a relevant relationship with an ineligible company.

2023 NMBTF Hospital and Clinic Summit Health Equity For All: Supporting High Risk Populations

Hybrid September 29th

8:30am-12:30pm

Gerald Champion Regional Medical Center 2669 North Scenic Drive •
Alamogordo, NM • 88310 Conference Center Yacca Room 1 and 2

Time	Credits	Topic & Speaker
8:30 am-9:00 am		Welcome: Baby Friendly Update and Breakfast
9:00 am-10 am	1	Rebecca Servoss: Lactation options available to families in high risk pregnancies and NICU babies
10:00 am-10:10 am		Break
10:10am-11:10a m	1	Improving collaboration to decrease lactation desserts: interactive session Kimberly Smetzer, Marissa Guerrero 30 min panel sharing lived experience providing care in a rural community followed by a 30 min brainstorming session “mapping resources within their community”
11:10 am-12:10 pm	1	Review of Recording Laurel Wilson: Up In Smoke: The Potential Health Impact of Cannabis Use During Pregnancy and Lactation on the Baby
12:10 pm- 12:25 pm	.33	Evaluation

This nursing continuing professional development activity was submitted for approval to New Mexico Nurses Association, an accredited approver by the American Nurses Credentialing Center’s Commission on Accreditation.*

*Awarded 3.3 Contact Hours when evaluation is passed with a 70% or higher

*No speaker, exhibitor or sponsor has a relevant relationship with an ineligible company.