ROWAN

It's been nearly a week since Orla and Gaius vanished. Maeve left a few days ago, too. No note, no map, none of her things left either. It's just me and Corin here, now. We don't have a clue of what we're doing.

ASTIS

I can feel something changing. I don't understand what it is, neither of us do. Something is wrong, though. Something is very wrong. It's , very like the threads that hold it all together, that keep all the layers in place, are being pulled and pulled until it's all going to come loose. And I don't know how to stop it.

CELYN

I haven't been here in so long. It's changed. A lot. I don't think it's ever been this quiet, but I don't think that's a good thing. I don't think anything about this place is good, really, but I'm here now. I don't have to like it, I just have to deal with it and then I can be on my way.

ROWAN

Corin wants to leave. They want to tie up all our loose ends here, get Orla and Gaius back as quickly as possible, and then be gone. I don't know where. But I don't think that's a good idea. Maybe I'm wrong, maybe I'm finally losing my mind, but I think there's more going on here than can be solved by us leaving. I don't know, I-

ROWAN

There's something going on here, something I don't understand, and I can't just leave without figuring it out.

ASTIS

It all goes back to that place.
Really, that shouldn't surprise me anymore, but somehow it still does.
That place that never should have been there to begin with, it all starts
there, it seems. If only any of us could understand it. I just hope that it doesn't tear everything apart
before we can stop it.

CELYN

I'm supposed to fix things, to keep it all from falling to pieces, but it's a lot harder to do with all these moving parts, when I didn't expect either of them. I just hope that they'll help, rather than making everything worse.
We need to get out of here before it kills us all, and I just hope that they help instead of making it all worse.

ROWAN

I don't know if we're ever going to get them back. I hope we will, but if it never happens, then we can't leave.
I can't leave. I need to know what all of this means, and I can't help but feel like something's waiting to happen, like we're all waiting on the ledge. Someone has to fall eventually.
I just hope it isn't me.
