

Cho Kyu-sung, who played to the front line on the day, scored one goal and one assist to help his team win. Meat Whelan made the victory sound after four league games with the victory, and ranked fifth in the league (4 wins, 2 draws, 3 losses, 14 points).

Even before the game, Cho Kyu-sung's selection news and attention were paid to his hair style. Having maintained his hair close to long hair, he showed off his reggae hair ahead of the home game.

Cho Kyu-sung took a decisive opportunity in the middle of the first half. He overcame a physical fight in the box around the 36th minute and took a perfect one-on-one chance. However, Cho Kyu-sung's direct left-footed shot went off the right side of the goal. It was all the more regrettable because it was a chance right in front of the net. Meatwhelan attempted seven shots in the first half, but had zero shots on target. It was regrettable that he failed to open the goal despite overwhelming the opponent.

However, Meat Whelan got a penalty kick (PK) around the fourth minute of the second half. In the process of defending the cross, Odense defender Niklas Murisen committed a handling, and a PK decision was made after video review (VAR). Cho Kyu-sung was the kicker. He calmly kicked it into the middle and scored his second consecutive goal and fifth in the league. It was the first goal to make up for a miss in the first half.

However, Meat Whelan allowed his first effective shot as the defense collapsed in the 7th minute of the second half, which became Odense's equalizer. Ruizius finished Rami al-Haji's pass from the sideline with a left-footed shot.

After that, Meat Whelan's offensive continued. In particular, he aimed for Odense's goal with a series of crosses from the side. Cho Kyu-sung attempted a header in the 22nd minute of the second half, but it was front. In the 45th minute, he led a cross right in front of the goalkeeper with a left-footed volley shot, but the ball went off to the right again.

However, Cho Kyu-sung eventually recovered from his mistake again this time. Around three minutes into extra time, he calmly handed over a header pass from a long cross, which Charles finished with a right-footed shot to complete the theater goal. Cho Kyu-sung missed two chances, but he recovered with one goal and one assist to lead his team to victory.

Soccer statistics media Pot Mob and Sofa Score gave Cho Kyu-sung 8.5 and 7.8, respectively. It was the highest rating for both teams. Cho Kyu-sung played the full-time ground on the day and recorded one dribble success, one key pass, five aerial ball competition wins, and two blood fouls. He showed active movement not only in the box but also throughout the stadium.

Cho Kyu-sung, who wore a Meat Whelan uniform on July 11 with a transfer fee of 3.05 million euros (about 4.3 billion won), is playing a role that is overshadowed by concerns about the adjustment period. He has already scored five goals in eight league games and added one goal in the UEFA Europa Conference League (UECL) qualifying round.

At the time, Meat Whelan general manager Sven Graversen said, "We have been watching Cho Kyu-sung for more than a year and we have realized that we have been attracted to him in many parts of Europe since the World Cup. "Since he is the main member of the Korean national team and the top scorer from Jeonbuk, there was of course a lot of competition to recruit him," he said. "I'm happy that Cho Kyu-sung also thought Meat Whelan was the right place for him."메이저놀이터

Cho Kyu-sung is a perfect striker. He takes advantage of his good physique and is good at positioning in the box, as well as taking advantage of the space that occurs by playing against the goalpost. "It is technically strong, can use both the head and both feet, and has excellent finishing skills." In fact, Cho Kyu-sung's six goals were scored using both feet and head. He scored three goals with his right foot, one goal with his left foot, and two goals with his header. He is also a PK kicker and is receiving the team's expectations.

Shortly after joining Meat Whelan, Cho Kyu-sung said through the club, "I had many opportunities to go to Europe, but I thought this was the right time. Meat Whelan has been working very hard to get me in, and I'm sure this is the right choice." So far, his journey has been cruising.
