- Rush comms are available but for an extra fee. Percentage depends on the urgency and my personal schedule. Can range from 50%-300%
- Securing a spot in the queue will cost an upfront fee of $10, this payment will go towards your commission. If you decide to leave the queue this fee will not be refunded (note that the queue can sometimes be several months to a year long).
- When I get to you in the queue, I will message you. We will finalize your idea and agree upon a fair price

If you do not specify changes before payment and I have begun working on the art, those changes will only be made with additional payment as reimbursement for the work already completed. I have the right to refuse these changes or postpone them to a later date for any reason.
- If I am unable to message you due to a change in username or inactivity on your account, I will attempt to contact you using other means, if unsuccessful, your spot in the queue will be lost. ## Payment

- Stripe: I only accept payment through stripe or kofi. You can use apple pay, google pay, debit, or credit cards. You do not need an account yourself

- I offer my own payment plans that are only available to loyal repeat customers, the time intervals are determined on a case by case basis and I manually keep track of payments through stripe. You will receive an email indicating a due payment that you must click on and pay for yourself each time. Late payments more than 7 days have a 5% flat interest fee added to the total owed (the 5% is only considering the single payment, not the entire cost of the art).
- I also offer “buy now, pay later” allowing you to pay in installments. The companies include Affirm, Afterpay / Clearpay, and Klarna. I am not liable for any disputes or issues related to payment through these companies if you choose to work with them when purchasing a commission from me. I do warn that these companies tend to have very high interest rates on missed payments, so please take precautions when using these services
- Art wips may be watermarked before I have received full payment
- Complex characters will be charged an extra fee of what I see fit on a case by case basis
- Taxes or transaction fees may apply
- Due to exchange rates always changing, sometimes my pricing may be a few cents off. By purchasing from me you acknowledge this may occur and I am not obligated to refund or reimburse that amount
- Tips are accepted at Ko-Fi.com/luckfoxo33 and TOS applies to payments made through there as well.

WIPS

- I generally send wip updates at the sketch stage, line art stage, and flat color stage as well as any other stages I see fit unless told not to. I will always send updates at anytime you request them
- I will make changes to the sketch twice, after that I charge an extra $10 USD+ for sizable changes. Smaller changes are not charged unless there are multiple
- If there is a detail in your character’s design that I’ve drawn incorrectly that was clearly shown in your reference image/s always let me know, I will make those changes free of charge

- If you request a change after the piece is completed that was not a detail shown clearly on your reference image/s or you request another large change, I will charge a fee that I see fit depending on the complexity of said change

Physical Products

- Physical products shipped to you that have gotten lost or damaged in transit are not my responsibility to replace, no refunds are accepted in these situations
- When purchasing a physical item you are subject to paying any and all delivery/ import fees
