A. Introduction

Here you should tell 5 components are: 1) what is known (Key prior research findings – Major results from credible studies that set the foundation for your work; Widely accepted theories or models – The dominant frameworks or concepts in the field; Documented phenomena or patterns – Observed relationships, trends, or effects that have been replicated; Relevant historical context – How understanding of the problem has evolved, highlighting milestones; Consensus in the literature – Points most researchers agree upon), 2) what is unknown (how this study contributes new knowledge), 3) state of the art, 4) novelty, and 5) contribution of the study. In the last paragraph you should write your 6) research question/Hypothesis (500-1000 words)

B. Methods

Here you should state directly the steps you took in your study, respondent, the research place, the instruments you used for collecting data, and how you analyzed your data (500-1000 words). If your paper uses qualitative methods, you must use the NVivo application for the data analysis (all designs of your research method must use the updated application).

C. Results and Discussion

Here you should answer the research question. And give discussion, at least 25 journal articles that support your results and 3-5 previous findings not supported. In the discussion your paper must have 1) the comparison with international research findings; 2) Limitations of the study; 3) Theoretical implications

D. Conclusions

Here only one paragraph (300 words) which answers the research question. It should be simple, short and clear. It consists of Key Finding, Practical Implications, and Future Research Recommendations

E. Acknowledgement

State your acknowledgement to whom you declare, who help your study.

References

Reference style will be APA 7th edition style. (Font: Book Antiqua, Size: 12)

Ensure all references cited in the text and vice versa. It should use Mendeley, in English version (No Indonesian Title in References) it should be from reputable publisher database Scopus (75%), at least 35 references and have a DOI in each reference. The references must be between 2023-2026.
