About

Hi!! I'm Swann (zie/hir/he/him pronouns), a nineteen year old university student with roughly five years of roleplaying experience. I live in the GMT +8 timezone so our responses may not match up at the exact same times, just so you're aware! I also have some mental illnesses I am not willing to disclose that cause me to have some amounts of short-term and even long-term memory loss so I tend to document everything about my roleplay threads pretty meticulously (from rp partners' preferences to extensive worldbuilding).

Writing Preferences

Hardline preference for third-person, paragraph-style roleplays. Ideally I would love to have a novella/literate writing partner able to match my multi-paragraph long responses, but I can also chop it down depending on the pacing of the roleplay.

In all honesty, I'm not a very fast writer. I would prefer if responses (on each end) could be either once a day or once every few days or even a week, because rapid-fire style threads have stressed me out a lot in the past. You're free to respond as fast as you'd like, just please keep in mind I may not be able to do the same.

Anything fantasy is game for me, and I tend to mainly play more ‘feminine’-presenting androgynous elven characters (though this does NOT mean they are automatically damsels in distress and this preference can change depending on specific plotlines and so on). I’m open to playing side characters and having a large cast of characters as well, on top of developing the world we write our main characters in.

In terms of romance, I primarily like to write M/M slowburn plots with ongoing interpersonal (and societal, depending on the plot) conflict going on in the background to keep things interesting. While I’m open to sexually explicit plots, I also am totally okay with fade-to-blacks.

I absolutely adore developing characters and the world around them with my writing partners so feel free to share with me your pinterest boards, playlists, and anything you can think of!! Faceclaims aren’t something I necessarily care about, but I will provide them for partners who prefer them will pr.

My ideal platforms for roleplay would be either our own Discord server or Gmail– though I have become more accustomed to the former in recent times because it’s easier to organise different aspects of my respective roleplays.

Please also be able to communicate with me if you lose interest in the roleplay or feel uncomfortable with something!! Being ghosted with no reason why whatsoever upsets me, and I’ll understand if you want to stop– just let me know.

Plots (my character italicised, more coming soon)

1. Elven prince (or merchant's heir, etc)/Orcish Bodyguard

The circumstances for how they come to meet as well as later plotlines can be discussed, but would hopefully have our characters slowly learning to warm up to each other and be each other's source of comfort in the isolation of their daily lives. Lots of court drama, angst (maybe the orcish bodyguard could secretly be a spy for an orcish stronghold looking to muscle in on their neighbouring prosperous elven kingdom) and gentleness.

2. Flower shop keeper/Mafioso

Mafioso character is tasked with going round the shops on their gang's turf, and develops a sweet spot for a certain flower shop owner he visits.

3. Prince-of-war/Emperor

This is a bit difficult to attribute to traditional tropes as it comes from a piece of worldbuilding from one of my own original stories, but it takes place in an Ancient Roman-esque empire, where different 'princes' are designated for specific areas of government (e.g the prince-of-war (military), prince-of-peace (diplomacy), prince-of-letters (philosophy/literature), etc.). The different princes all serve the Emperor, or God-Emperor of the empire and more often than not has a very hard and strict approach to ruling the capital city and its vassal regions. I would be interested to see the different ways this plot could be played out- would your Emperor be a tyrannical one who seeks to use the prince of war to satisfy his own dark ego, or a well-meaning albeit brusque figure?

4. First Mate/Pirate King

Somewhat similar to the last plot, with the faithful first mate of a well-established group of corsairs somehow getting romantically involved with his captain. Will his fellow shipmates grow jealous and frame him for a staged coup? Will something go horribly wrong, with the captain having to choose between saving his first mate or the rest of his crew? Only time will tell.

5. Dragon Rider/Rival Dragon Rider

Based loosely off the world of A Song of Ice and Fire, in a world where noble houses reign supreme and their children compete to be chosen by the ruling family as part of the next generation of dragonknights. Two boys from different houses are chosen, whether to squire for the same or two different dragonknights, and through a combination of circumstances are pitted against each other.... as grown men, will they come together, or tear each other apart?

Feel free to tell me about your own plots and ideas, too!

Writing Samples

Unfortunately I don't have any RP-specific ones as I haven't roleplayed in quite some time, but here's a sample of some fanfiction I've written recently:

"San Lang," he says, shakily. "I'm sorry for that."

"I know." Hua Cheng says, but not in the way Mu Qing or Feng Xin would, without real meaning- he places a hand on his god's waist, and turns them toward the warmth of the sun. They do not need spoken words to understand each other.

Tendrils of gold creep across the horizon, and Xie Lian can see the faint slope in Hua Cheng's shoulders; signalling that it is high time for them to return to Paradise Manor. He himself feels tired- but it isn't the kind of fatigue that grates on his bones now, just the dull ache of being; of being alone with each other, of having the evening crashing down around their heads to leave them alone with their thoughts.

Contact

I greatly prefer Gmail as a first point of communication and the main platform for which our roleplay would take place, and then possibly becoming friends on Discord to share moodboards together and whatnot. Please don't send me one-liner e-mails simply asking me if I want to roleplay- tell me a little about yourself, your preferences, and any plots you'd possibly interested in <3
