Project name: Life Class

Abstract:

My goal is to teach and prepare students for self independence and college. I will create a website that will provide tutorials on simple life skills that are no longer common knowledge to high school students.

Introduction:

Background: The problem I have found is the school system is so focused on teaching us about textbooks and history that we have got distracted from what we should be getting taught: how to live on our own and be fully independent.

Goals: My goal is for kids to successfully get through college and strive in life by creating a website teaching them how to do so. I will measure success by how many kids enjoy the class.

Research

I have researched statistics on former high-school students talking about the benefits of life classes, and how much of an impact it would have made if they were given a life class in high school. Information that I need is feedback from the HPA community of specific life aspects that I should focus on.

Implementation

A step by step process to how you plan on reaching your project goal. What needs to happen? Include a timeline of events here. What challenges do you anticipate?
I will reach my goal by creating a website for teenagers/young adults to be able to access for simple life lessons (like changing car oil, student debt, etc). In order to accomplish this I need to create my website, and begin to upload video tutorials of how to accomplish these tasks.

What project management tool do you intend to use? How will you keep track of your progress? I will be using the project management tool Asana to keep me organized and on track.

I will not be asking for money for my project.	$$$	How much of that resource do you need? Or how regularly do you need it?

Conclusion

Final wrap-up—restate the goal and project mission
Overall I hope to create an easy-access platform for people looking for life lessons skills. This will hopefully fix the issue of the lack of focus on life skills in school, and better prepare teenagers for college and life in general.
