Language Arts

(Sloan, Johnson, Elrod, & Wright)

Sloan/Davis/Wright: Students will continue their ReadWorks assignment for the third nine weeks. They will analyze the short story The Necklace and examine how the conflict influences the characters' development and decisions.

Johnson: Students will argue whether a specific poem is more "love" or "love-ish" in its tone and message. By using some argumentative techniques and evidence in the poem, students will prove their claim.

Elrod: We will continue to read and analyze short stories and poems with similar themes. We will write Literary Analysis essays as well as Argumentative essays. We have also been learning about Subjects and Predicates in sentences. Please check out the Canvas Calendar for more details.

Math

(Anglin, Hansen, Novak, & Thomas)

Hansen - 7th Grade Math:

This week we are continuing into Unit 4. I am very proud of the students and how hard they work to prepare for the unit 3B CBA! Students will have a quiz over types of angles and finding the missing angle. If you feel like your student needs extra help, please reach out and I can guide you to resources or we can set up a time in the morning for extra help. Here is the link to unit 4 unit agenda

Novak - 7th Grade Advanced Math

Angle Relationships Quiz on Thursday, 2/20! We will review angle relationships when students return to school on Wednesday, and will begin exploring circles (circumference and area) after our quiz on Thursday. If a student is struggling while practicing at home, they can message me in Canvas for help, and/or I can schedule a time for them to come in before school for extra help. More detailed information about the lessons are located in the Unit Agenda, linked on my Canvas course page.

Anglin/Thomas - 7th Grade Math This week we will continue our Geometry unit. Wednesday we will review finding missing angles and then start exploring parts of a circle. Parents can follow along with what we are doing in class by accessing the
