Advanced Classroom Management* is a course that will allow teachers to delve deeply into concepts that relate to classroom management. Topics will include the habit loop, decision fatigue, behaviorism, social cognitive theory, and various motivation theories. Participants will actively collaborate and discuss challenges of the modern classroom and will generate solutions to common classroom issues.

Final presentation: Participants will work individually or in pairs and will present on a variety of sub-topics of classroom management. Presentations will include ways they can personally improve their classroom management in the current school year as well as a description of their personal teaching style and how that style both helps and hinders classroom
