Other Things to Note:

The *Spiritual Exercises of St. Ignatius

Fr. Ducci will be preaching selections from The Spiritual Exercises of St. Ignatius; while you will be able to borrow a copy of the Exercises during the retreat, you are encouraged to bring your own if you like making notes in a physical book.

The Exercises is widely published and can be found at any major bookseller. You can also download an electronic copy of the Exercises for free here. Additionally, the Exercises is included in a download of the iPieta app, an incredible resource of spiritual texts and prayers for those who want to deepen their faith.

Retreat Schedule

As our time is very limited, the retreat will follow a closely guarded schedule built around eight meditations and exercises. Fr. Ducci will give a roughly 30-minute meditation, and directly afterwards time is allotted for retreatants to perform the complementary spiritual exercise.

Interspersed throughout the day are meals, communal prayer, and free time. Retreatants are encouraged to use the scheduled free time to pursue personal spiritual reading, journaling, and meditation.

Confession and Spiritual Direction

Fr. Ducci will be available throughout the retreat during adoration and scheduled free time for the Sacrament of Confession, as well as for spiritual direction.

Silence

Ignatian retreats are traditionally held in silence; we ask that you please refrain from unnecessary talking during the weekend. The Lord speaks to us in the silence of our hearts, and times of retreat present a special opportunity to immerse ourselves completely in this profound and intimate silence. You are encouraged to socialize and share your faith with other retreatants after the final Mass on Sunday.

We also ask that you extend this spirit of silence to the electronic front; you are highly encouraged to put your phone on airplane mode during the weekend, and are asked to refrain as much as possible from texting, talking on the phone, checking e-mail, using social networking sites, and accessing the internet during the retreat.

Liturgy

Holy Mass will be sung daily in the Extraordinary Form of the Roman Rite (1962 Missal).

Certain hours of the Divine Office (Liturgy of the Hours) will also be sung in Latin. Booklet missals and leaflets will be provided for all liturgical functions.
