

THE PRIVILEGED

A world divided

Genre: Dystopian cyberpunk

After the Cullen syndrome, a mutative virus that swept across the world half a century ago, humanity has retreated into communities protected by a dome that keeps them separated from the rest of the world. The Central Government only can provide a good living for a certain amount of people, and when the populace grows too large, the Culling must happen. Outside these communities, the world revolves around survival of the fittest. Brutal clans rule the cities with terror and cannibals roam the rural parts of the country.
