

Starlane-Arc Drift is a single-player game that keeps everything on your device. Your stardust, unlocked lenses, lit constellations, calibration settings and lifetime records are stored locally and are never uploaded or shared. The game requires no account and asks for no personal information. Optional haptics and system chimes stay under your control in the log screen and can be turned off at any time. We do not collect analytics, do not use tracking, and do not run third-party advertising. If you reset your progress, the local data is cleared and cannot be recovered. For any question about this policy, reach us at starlane.arcdrift.helpdesk@quillmail.com.
