

Lindsey Armitage is a real estate agent, small business owner, volunteer, wife and mom who calls Elkford home.

Her professional background extends beyond real estate and includes experience in utilities, infrastructure, program development, project coordination and organizational planning. She has worked with organizations including Corix Utilities and SAIT, as well as on projects involving FortisAlberta, ATCO Gas, the City of Medicine Hat and FortisBC. Her work has included needs assessment, budgeting and business cases, stakeholder communication, cross-functional collaboration and moving projects from planning through implementation.

Community involvement is also an important part of Lindsey's life. She currently serves as Vice President and Public Relations for the Elkford Snowmobile Association, is an archery instructor and Secretary with the Elkford Rod & Gun Club, serves with the BC Wildlife Federation's Learn to Hunt and Fish program, and has experience in condominium governance.

Lindsey's priorities for Elkford centre on thoughtful growth, infrastructure, affordability and opportunity, communication, and quality of life.

She believes Elkford needs to plan for the future while protecting the qualities that make people choose to live here. Her approach to municipal leadership is straightforward: listen, ask good questions, understand the numbers, build a solid plan and make sure the work gets done.

If elected, Lindsey's focus would include responsible long-term planning, supporting housing and economic opportunities, maintaining and planning for municipal infrastructure, improving communication between the District and residents, and ensuring the community remains a great place to live, work, raise a family and enjoy the Elk Valley lifestyle.

She believes municipal leadership should be visible, accessible and collaborative, and that good decisions should consider not only what Elkford needs today, but what the community will need in the years ahead.
