

Short Essay & Video - POSITION: Head of Country Coordinators

Ruben Hauschild (SUI)

With a deep passion for the Olympic Movement, sports management, and leadership, I am eager to take on the responsibility of Head of Country Coordinators. My extensive background in sports—ranging from junior elite football to becoming an all-around athlete—has shaped my commitment to promoting Olympic values and fostering international collaboration.

Holding both a bachelor's and a master's degree in sports sciences, I have developed a strong academic foundation complemented by hands-on experience in sports governance. As the Country Coordinator for Switzerland at IOAPA, I have successfully organized meetings, built a national network, and motivated both past and future participants to engage with the Olympic community. Now, I believe it is time to take the next step and contribute on a global scale. My vision for this role is twofold. First, I aim to enhance the recognition of country coordinators by advocating for their endorsements to be formally acknowledged by the IOA. Second, I seek to establish deeper personal connections with coordinators worldwide, ensuring I understand their unique challenges and can support them effectively.

With my diplomatic skills, leadership experience, and unwavering dedication to the Olympic Movement, I am ready to take this role to new heights.
