B. Read the passage and decide if the statements are true (T) or false (False). (1.0 point)

In the future, cities are going to have more and more people living in them. More than half the world's people already live in cities, and by 2050, cities will become home to about 6.5

billion people. More people means that we're going to have more pollution, traffic and noise. It also means that we'll need more homes, schools, hospitals, jobs and transport. We'll need more resources, like water and energy. Many cities are already planning for the future. For example, in Bristol, England, you can hire a bike (instead of taking a car or bus) and ride in cycle lanes. In Singapore, to save space, they grow vegetables in lots of layers in special tall buildings. And in Amsterdam in the Netherlands, there are 'floating houses' built on water instead of on land!

32.   Less than half the world population live in cities now.

33.   About 6.5 million people will live in cities by 2050

34.   The population grown won't cause pollution.

35.   Cycling is encouraged in Bristol.

36.   When coming to Amsterdam, we just see houses built on land.
