

Blog post originally contributed to VIM Magazine's blog here

Photos also taken by me

Planner Recommendations

Fall is just around the corner, and with it comes football games, tailgating, parties and let's not forget classes. With such busy schedules, it helps to have something to keep everything organized. Planners are a great way to keep track of assignments, deadlines and commitments. It can even be a little fun! There are a lot of options out there to choose from; here are some recommendations to fit everyone's needs.

For the Eco-Conscious

We as humans use a lot of paper. To be more eco-friendly, there are several planners out there that are made from recycled paper and materials. The Passion Planner is made from recycled materials and vegan leather. Plus, the company plants a tree for every planner bought. It features weekly and monthly layouts along with a goal setting guide for three weeks, months and years. Check out their website to view their 2018-2019 planners.

For the Tech-Savvy

Who said your planner had to be made out of paper? Especially for those of us who are always on the go, having your planner right on your phone can be very convenient. Evernote is not only a note taking app, but also allows you to plan your schedule right on your phone. It also allows you to attach websites, photos and PDFs as well as share with your friends. Click here to visit their website for additional information. Their basic option is free and available for both iOS and Android.

For the Minimalist

Some people just like to keep it simple when it comes to planning. You don't have to sacrifice practicality for style with Blue Sky planners. The planner features clean lines with minimal design. This collaboration with designer Ashley Goldberg available at Target has gorgeous cover artwork. Check out their website for more collections and options.

For the Fun-Loving

If you are spending a lot of time having to plan out your schedule, it can be nice to have something a little fun to look at. Ban.do planners are cute, fun and functional. Each planner includes fun stickers and a page with information on all of the female artists that created the planner's artwork. Plus: decode secret messages and read compliments scattered throughout. Check out their website to view all of their planners and coordinating office supplies.

13 MONDAY

even baby animals think you're cute.

14 TUESDAY