

MILE LONG TABLE

Overview for Newsletter or Promotion

HEADING: Let's make Denver the most connected city in the nation at the Mile Long Table!

Last July, Denver-based non-profit Longer Tables brought 500 humans from all walks of life together to share a meal at a 528-foot table in Denver's Civic Center Park (check out the video!), launching their journey to setting the Mile Long Table, a literal 5,280-foot table that will bring together 5,280 humans from across Denver.

On July 26th at 10am, Longer Tables will set America's longest table to date on Auraria Campus in downtown Denver, and will be one of the most powerful, connective and hope-filled gatherings our city (and the nation) will see this year!

Longer Tables believes the table and shared meal is perhaps the most inclusive and humanizing place on the planet - with the potential to meaningfully connect diverse groups of people, inspire good and bring a true sense of belonging to the city.

Make sure you have seats at the table!
