Algues de mer (Seaweed)

In Japan, seaweed has long been an essential part of the diet.
In Japan, its varied properties,
its unique flavour,
its versatility in cooking,
and its high nutritional value are among the reasons that it has been for centuries cultivated and greatly appreciated in Japan.

La Fécule de Maïs (Cornstarch)

Versatile cornstarch.
Multipurpose cornstarch.
Cornstarch, my preferred thickening agent
for gravies and sauces!
Cornstarch. So economical!
It helps to absorb perspiration
and prevents foul odours in shoes.
Added to bathwater, it helps relieve the pain of sunburn and other minor skin irritations.

Épices pour Bifteck (Steak spice)

An ideal seasoning for the barbecue,
prepared with four exotic peppers:
Black Lampong, White Sarawak, Madagascar green, and pink from Reunion Island.
Sprinkle it on your steak,
or add it to marinades and sauces.
