

We are requesting `android.permission.READ_PHONE_STATE` to get a unique identification number based on your phone's data. We do NOT use your phone data for anything else than generating a unique identification number from it.

We use this unique identification number to allow the merchant a more reliable and secure means of identifying your device. This is important in case your device is used to commit fraud: in such cases, the merchant can choose to block the device.