As that scene played out, the phone rang. Once. Twice. Three times. And then suddenly it stopped. Seconds later, after the voicemail greeting played without announcement, the following message was left, by he on who the two women waited.

“Honey, look ... I.... I just got a call. I’m not gonna be able to...” The voice on the other end of the phone gave way to a long, dejected sigh. “... I just can’t come home. Not yet.... They need me back. I know how much you and mama miss me. How much you both wanted to have me there. Hell, it even got you two into the same house for the first time in years. I hope you two worked things out. God knows I need you both on my side. Either way, I’m just so sorry, baby. Tell mama I love her. And I swear I’ll make it back soon, ok?. Alright. Love you, sweetie. Bye....”
