Kirsten Bacon - Producer

Kirsten Bacon is a passionate advocate for environmental conservation, stemming from her upbringing on the stunning Huon Island in Tasmania. Raised by parents who fought fervently to preserve the region's natural beauty from industrial exploitation, Kirsten developed a deep-rooted commitment to protecting the environment.

With over 40 years of experience in addressing food-related issues, Kirsten has become a prominent figure both locally and globally. Her dedication to sustainability led her to assist the Australian arm of the Off the Table campaign, which urges chefs and retailers to reject farmed fish in their establishments.

Throughout her life, Kirsten has been actively involved in community and environmental activism. Together with her partner, Mike Sampey, she spearheads efforts against the expansion of toxic finfish aquaculture in Tasmania. Their joint commitment has led them to develop a series of films aimed at exposing the corruption and cruelty within the salmon industry, as well as its detrimental long-term effects on Tasmania's ecosystems.

Kirsten's journey as a film producer is intertwined with her lifelong dedication to environmental advocacy. Through her work, she strives to raise awareness and catalyze action towards a more sustainable and ethical approach to food production.

MEDIA ENQUIRIES

For enquiries, including interview requests / assets, contact Curious PR, London:
Sophie Wesley: SophieW@CuriousPR.com T: 020 3397 9111 or M +44 (0)7880 290702 or Hannah Kapff: Hannah@CuriousPR.com T: 020 3397 9111 or M +44 (0)7747 794306
CuriousPR.com | Instagram: CuriousPR | Twitter: Curious_PR | FB: Curious PR | LinkedIn: Curious-PR