*A research abstract is a concise summary of a research paper or project. It is typically the first section of a research paper and serves as a brief overview of the study. The content of a research abstract generally includes the following elements: 1. Clearly state the topic or subject of the research for the readers to understand the focus of the study. 2. Clearly articulate the main research question or objective of the study to convey the purpose of the research. 3. Briefly describe the research method or approach used to address the research question which includes the study design, data collection methods and analysis techniques. 4. Summarize the main findings or result of the study. Highlight key outcomes or significant data that contribute to the understanding of the research question. 5. Provide a brief conclusion that discusses the implications of the findings and their relevance to the broader field of study.
