What is it about this sport you enjoy so much that makes you want to continue to play at the collegiate level?

I love the sport of basketball, because it is a team sport - with both strategic and physical challenges. The fast pace of the game keeps me engaged, and being able to work with my teammates and improve every game makes the experience invaluable. Additionally, basketball has taught me the importance of perseverance, hardwork and confidence. Playing in college will give me the opportunity to continue growing my skills and compete at a higher level, doing something I love with others who share the same passion of basketball. I have loved playing basketball ever since a young age. Watching older girls play and then mimicking it on the court always put a smile on my face and made playing so much fun.
