

Quests Available

Breakfast With Warlic

Summoning Help

Warlic

• Dragon Egg

Before finishing Valencia's Quests:

Warlic: Hmmm, yes, interesting. You should speak with Twilly, the little red moglin, in the town of Falconreach.

After doing Valencia's Quests:

Warlic: A Dragon Egg is not a matter to be taken lightly. Let us be swift with this most interesting quest.

• Strings of Flame

Warlic: We must summon an unspeakably powerful creature to determine which egg is the right one. To summon "IT" I require several reagents!

#1 Bag of Fire Yarn

Venture into the Fire Cave, north of here, and see if you can find Bag of Fire Yarn.

• Brickhead - get the #1 Bag of Fire Yarn from Fiery Heart of Mt. Shining Star to unlock this dialogue.

Warlic: The creature we are summoning is incredibly dangerous. Let's see, I still require several more reagents.

Indestructible Litter

Go into the Earth Cave to the east. It is a dirty job, but you must defeat a Stone Head boss and take his rubble.

• You're All Wet - get the Indestructible Litter from Stone Head monster in It's A Dirty Job... quest to unlock this dialogue.

Warlic: I fear the creature we summon might be too difficult to control. Just in case you should get a powerful water weapon.

Bag of Fish!

Travel to the southern waterfall and bring back a bag of Salmon.

• Ol' Wind Bag - get the Bag of Fish near the Waterfall Secret Cave to unlock this dialogue.

Warlic: We just need one more thing to summon the monster that will show us which egg is the Dragon Egg.

Warlic: Bag of Wind-nip!

Warlic: Mmm, wind-nip. Wind elementals just cannot get enough of the stuff. Search the wind cave to the North.

• The Summoning! - get the Bag of Wind-nip near the Floating Cave to unlock this dialogue.

Warlic: We are ready to summon the monster who can determine the egg. I must warn you again, this is extremely dangerous.

• Other Quests

Warlic: Lymcrest needs help, and there is the matter of the letter I sent to you...

• Save Lymcrest

Warlic: I will make these quests available to you in exchange for Elemental Essences from the Elemental Quests.

• River of Fire - turn in 3 Elemental Essence to unlock this option.

Warlic: Recently the mining town of Lymcrest, to the west and south of here, has been having a lot of trouble with the local elemental population.

Warlic: Something has thrown off the balance between the elements and has driven them mad.

Warlic: To add to their troubles, the river that runs beside the town... the river itself... has been set on fire.

Warlic: I would like you to go investigate this river of fire. See if you can help the miners. I will see if I can find the source of the elemental imbalance.

• Fetching Fire

Warlic: I see, Xan is behind the river of fire. All of the elemental disturbances are most likely his doing as well.

Warlic: You may have already found this out for yourself, but I should warn you if you wish to continue helping me. Xan is a very dangerous foe.

Warlic: He has been after me for years, and if he sees you as my ally, he will also be after you at all costs. His hate for me runs very deep.

Warlic: It all goes back to the time that we both spent at the magic academy in Swordhaven. Xan and I were always competitive...

Warlic: ... but when it came to the affections of Jaania, we were out of control. One day there was an... accident...

Warlic: Xan was engulfed in flames, and the only thing that I could do to save him was to change the normal fire to a healing fire.

Warlic: The flames that surround his body are the only things keeping him alive, but he lives in constant agony.

Warlic: For all his madness and hatred, I am glad that I was able to save him... but poor, beautiful Jaania...

Warlic: Excuse me, I was lost in thought. Back to the threat at hand. I think I can change the river back to its natural water state.

Warlic: But I will need a sample of the flaming water from its source. It flows from a fire cave in the elemental mountains.

Warlic: Bring me a sample of the pure flaming water, so that I may test my theory. We will save Lymcrest together, <Character>!

• The Pure Pool

Warlic: The enchanted bottle is ready for you to get a sample from the purest part of the Pure Pool, the waterfall that feeds the pool...

Warlic: ...but I learned something in Lymcrest that you might find interesting. Many years ago before the village even had a name...

Warlic: ...a baby boy named Xan was born under unusual circumstances. As he grew it became apparent that he possessed some natural skill in magic.

Warlic: The miners were made nervous by his skill in magic, which is common with the magically gifted, we are often misunderstood.

Warlic: In this small mining village there were no other children to play with and young Xan was hungry for attention...

Warlic: So Xan tried to get attention the only way he knew how, by causing bad things to happen and hurting innocent people.

Warlic: Xan, of course, was too clever to get caught but everyone suspected that the strange fires in the village were his doing.

Warlic: As Xan grew to be a young man he became proud of the villager's fear... which he mistook for respect.

Warlic: Eventually, tragedy struck and Xan's parents were killed in another mysterious fire, the day that Xan left for the Magic Academy in Swordhaven.

Warlic: The fires stopped that day in Lymcrest. I'm not sure if Xan just couldn't control his power or if he was just always dangerously insane...

Warlic: ... but it appears that Xan has returned to punish the miners of Lymcrest who he felt always treated him with less respect than he deserved.

Warlic: We HAVE to stop Xan and change the river back before Lymcrest is "punished" further! We have no time to waste!

Warlic: Now that the pass is clear, head to the Pure Pool and take a sample of the pure elemental water for me, while I prepare the counter-spell.

- The Letter

Warlic: Thank you for coming so quickly <Character>. There is a new threat amassing and I believe that you may be our only hope.

- What's wrong?

<Character>: What can I do to prepare myself?

Warlic: I have been following your adventures closely. I must say that, so far, I am impressed.

Warlic: But a great Darkness is coming, and our side is not prepared to battle it.

- I side with the Dark!

<Character>: If you have been watching me, you should know I side with the Darkness.

Warlic: That is your choice. But the power I sense in you will draw this new danger to you like a moth to the flame.

Warlic: You will need a powerful weapon when the time comes.

- Talk

- Elementals

Warlic: Elementals? Indeed, this is why I am here. Xan has twisted these mountains creating monsters of elemental evil.

- Xan

Warlic: Xan? Alas, our conflict has continued for some time. I do regret what happened between us that caused his affliction.

- Portal

Warlic: Portals? Portals are magical gateways th... oh, you already know that. They have been quite handy since I found them and turned them on.

Nythera (before The Final Showdown)

During Elemental Attack! - The Storm War:

Nythera: I am Nythera, the Purple Mage, the greatest power on Lore.

- Warlic?

During Elemental Attack! - The Storm War:

Nythera: Warlic was a great mage, but he had no idea how to properly utilize his power.

Nythera: He underestimated me and I was able to take his power for myself. Only I, with my dragon ancestry and superior intelligence, am worthy of such power.

Nythera: I'll show everyone who doubted me. Everyone who talked down to me. Just like I showed Warlic.