

Read from the top down...

Arrival Time for Surgery tomorrow?

Bryan Canary <bryan@bryancanary.com>

Thu, Jun 27, 9:46 AM

Reply

to Nadia ▾

Hi Nadia -

Do you have an arrival time for surgery tomorrow for me?

Please advise

Thanks

...

Bryan

← Nadia Castillo <ncastillo@mpsccllc.org>

Thu, Jun 27, 9:54 AM

Reply

to me ▾

Good morning Bryan,

Nurses from our facility should be calling you today in the afternoon to confirm your arrival time.

I can give you a tentative time. As of right now my schedule shows you should arrive at 10:45AM, procedure is to start at 11:45AM.

Thank You,

Nadia Castillo
Billing Specialist
Monterey Peninsula Surgery Center
Phone (831)264-5591
Fax (831)655-1037

Bryan Canary <bryan@bryancanary.com>
to Nadia ▼

Thu, Jun 27, 10:02 AM ☆ ↩ Reply ⋮

Got it. thanks much. IF that time holds, do you have a tentative procedure duration/recovery duration? IE what time should my ride tentatively plan on being there to pick me up...

Thanks
b

---

RE: Arrival Time for Surgery tomorrow?

Nadia Castillo <ncastillo@mpscllc.org>
to me ▼

Thu, Jun 27, 10:17 AM ☆ ↩ Reply ⋮

The schedule indicates duration of the procedure is approximately 75 minutes, this can change of course. Regarding recovery, every patient is different and this could vary. You can ask the nurses when they call to confirm your arrival time as they are a lot more familiar with procedure duration/recovery.

Thank You,

And with that, we obtained an incredibly valuable fact that will come in handy later!!!

Do ya know what we got that is so valuable??