

We used _____

as an analogy for _____.

Can you think of another comparison we could make,

instead of _____,

that would help to explain _____?

We used _____

as an analogy for _____.

Can you think of another comparison we could make,

instead of _____,

that would help to explain _____?

We used _____

as an analogy for _____.

Can you think of another comparison we could make,

instead of _____,

that would help to explain _____?