We're glad you could make it to this year's ESFL Summer Camp. You know what? Many people consider this to be the finest training ground for tomorrow's leaders! Our program provides children with a special camp experience, and we back it up with over one hundred years of tradition. Our participants are sure to be filled with memories to last a lifetime. Let's begin today with a short orientation, one that both the parents and children can take part in. When we're finished, we'll see the parents to their cars. Once Mom and Dad are gone, kids, then the adventure can truly begin! What do you say? Can we have a big cheer for ESFL Summer Camp? It's going to be our best ever!

Would you hire a person who jumps from job to job? I think that different industries understand or even encourage the job-hopping professional. In journalism, it's a given that you're going to move around. Staying in one place too long, particularly if you're an up-and-coming reporter, seems to make you look lazy. The tech industry also understands the wandering worker. By contrast, the financial world can provide more advancement opportunities by allowing someone to remain where they are, without the feeling of losing time or opportunity, for years. So, it all depends on what kind of industry you work in.
