84000 Published Translations

Bibliography Entries

Add a hyperlink over the English title. When a major revision has taken place we should add a version number after the date.

In the bibliography, these entries should be ordered as numerical (despite Chicago) and precede alphabetical entries beginning with the letter a, etc. (i.e., they should usually be at the top of the list in a given section). If there are multiple entries there is no need to add a date at the beginning of the citation.

84000. The Basket Without Words, The Illuminator's Matrix

(Anaṅgarakaraṇḍakavairocanagarbha, yi ge med pa'i za ma tog rnam par snang mdzad kyi snying po, Toh 259). Translated by Bhikṣuṇī Thubten Damcho and team. Online publication. 84000: Translating the Words of the Buddha, 2024.

If a translation was extensively revised by an 84000 editor, the citation might cite the editor as well.

84000. Teaching the Eleven Thoughts (Samjñānaikadaśanirdeśa, 'du shes bcu gcig bstan pa, Toh 311). Translated by Nathaniel Rich and the Sakya Pandita Translation Group. Online publication. 84000: Translating the Words of the Buddha, 2023.

Citation of a Knowledge Base article (if the article is mentioned in the Introduction):

84000. “Mahāsūtras.” Online Knowledge Base. 84000: Translating the Words of the Buddha, 2024.

Endnotes

Generally, an endnote should be added to carry a link to 84000 texts. We want to avoid putting hyperlinks directly into the body of the text because this is distracting to the reader. Although there are some cases such as tables and lists where direct hyperlinks may be preferable. One exception to this rule is in the case of the Knowledge Base articles. Since these articles will be highly referential and crosslist many texts, it makes sense to bend this rule and allow for more direct links within the articles provided it feels aesthetically sensible.

Longer-Form Endnotes

Should be used when a translation is only cited a few times; a short form can be used for frequent citations. Add a link over the English title if referencing the text as a whole, or over a milestone instead to link to a specific passage. Other than that, there is some flexibility whether one additionally provides the Sanskrit title, the Tibetan title, or no title at all, depending on the situation, e.g.,

when a work is commonly known by its Sanskrit title,

The Teaching of Vimalakīrti (Vimalakīrtinirdeśa, Toh 176).

The Good Eon (Bhadrakalpika, Toh 94), 1.2.

when it is more commonly known by its Tibetan title or it lacks a Sanskrit title, Dispelling the Darkness of the Ten Directions (phyogs bcu'i mun pa rnam par sel ba, Toh 269).

Calling Witness with a Hundred Prostrations (dpang skong phyag brgya pa, Toh 267), 1.31.

or when the Sanskrit/Tibetan title has already been given in the introduction or note, or the emphasis is on 84000's translation in particular.

Unraveling the Intent (translated 2024).

Shorter-Form Endnotes

Can be used if the same translation is referenced frequently.

The Teaching of Vimalakīrti.

The King of Samādhis Sūtra, 35.2.

If an abbreviation is stated in the abbreviations section, this may replace the citation. In the following example from Toh 3808, “khri brgyad” = Toh 10; “ ’bum” = Toh 8; and “nyi khri” = Toh 9:

khri brgyad, 3.21; ’bum, folio ka 84.b; nyi khri, folio ka 83.b; LSPW, p. 45.

Note that “khri brgyad” is at this time published, so it contains a milestone link. The other two Kangyur texts have pending links and references to the folios in the Tibetan source that will be updated to milestone numbers with links when they are published.

* Certain texts may require different styles, so these templates need not be followed strictly; they are given as a general template to follow. *

Tags for Pending Links

If a Kangyur/Tengyur text is mentioned that is not yet published, please add the following tag to notify markup to create an invisible pending link, which will be flagged and updated to a citation when the referenced text is published:

<Reference Toh ###>

You may also add a folio reference to the Degé, which will be helpful for markup to find and link the appropriate passage:

<Reference Toh ### F.111.a>

84000 Knowledge Base Pages

Endnotes

The format for endnotes is flexible, the important point being to carry a link. If particular information from the page is mentioned, it might be a good idea to add a date of last update or access date. Here are a few examples.

See the 84000 Knowledge Base article, “Disciples named Pūrṇa.”

“The Kangyur,” 84000 Knowledge Base (last updated 2024), 2.1.

Bibliography Entries

In addition to citing and linking to a Knowledge Base page in the introduction or notes, add a bibliography entry if the KB page is particularly significant; there is no need to add a bibliography entry every time a KB page is linked to or referenced. The date here is the initial date of publication, but an access date can also be given if necessary.

84000. “Mahāsūtras.” Online Knowledge Base. 84000: Translating the Words of the Buddha, 2024.

———. “Stūpa.” Online Knowledge Base. 84000: Translating the Words of the Buddha, 2023. Last updated May 2024.
