CHILLIWACK CONNECT: STUDENT INNOVATION CHALLENGE

Help UFV Students find their place.

OF THE FRASER VALLEY
CENTRE FOR EXPERIENTIAL
AND CAREER EDUCATION

The University of the Fraser Valley is looking to recruit community individuals, businesses, and organizations to enter our classrooms as guest speakers, industry experts, business mentors and challengers of work-specific problems. These engagements provide UFV students with practical experience, industry insight, a community network, and most of all confidence in pursuing their future careers.

Your engagement with UFV students could be limited to an hour as a guest speaker, or more involved by pitching a challenge your organization is experiencing to a class of students who act as your consultants for the entire semester. We need judges to evaluate student presentations, leaders to provide industry insight over a cup of coffee, hosts to invite students for a site tour of your business, and panel speakers to present at networking events.

You and your organization benefit from helping our students.

- Students have “fresh eyes” and can offer new insights or ideas to the problems you are experiencing
- Someone likely helped you along your career path; this is your way to give back or perhaps, pay it forward to the next generation
- Getting to know our students can be an early recruiting tools for your organization to attract local talent.
- Word of mouth is the best way to market your business or organization, by working with our students you have now introduced new potential clients from the community.
