Personality

A chronically stubborn she-cat who despite often bumping heads with her sisters, she will absolutely be a miserable mess if they end up leaving her after arguing. She's amazingly kind, and energetic she-cat despite this, she is often nosy but no longer digs if it causes cats to be uncomfortable. She's extremely detail-oriented, making sure to know everything she thinks she needs to know. Truffle hasn't grown out of being clingy, and likely never will.

She and her sisters still have her antics but she's growing to be more laid back and patient. But again she is still very playful.

- Kind - With being given so much love and attention, Trufflepaw is big-hearted and kind to others even if she doesn't know the cat.
- Detail-oriented - Trufflepaw loves to know all the details, be it about something simple or important. She greatly values curiosity and knowledge.
- Energetic - Absolutely loves games, moving around, playfighting, training. It's like it never ends. When she gets bored she's a menace, attempting to pounce or bat at every little thing if she's stir crazy.
- Clumsy - While currently this trait is mostly funny, and non dangerous at this age, who knows what could happen or when it'll stop being funny?
- Clingy - Truffle is very clingy to those she is close to, especially her family. She doesn't want to lose them again, and gets very sulky internally.
- Stubborn - Once Truffle has an idea or opinion it's hard to get it out of her head. Sure she might be quiet about it but it's still there.

Likes: Her family (especially her littermates, mama, and bibi), her curiosity being fulfilled, stories, rocks, looking for “treasure”, plants

Dislikes: Cats that speak badly about her family, not being able to cling to other cats, her family being sad/upset

Hates: Her curiosity being brushed off, or being told she asked a stupid question, being left alone

Fears: Her family disappearing (cough cough again), heights (will grow out of it in late apprenticeship)

Quirks: Batting pebbles around, digging tiny holes

Fun facts:

- If her mother survived Truffle would've been named Yarn with her sisters being named String (Orchard), and Ribbon (Mulch).
- Orchard is the eldest, Mulch being the middle/eldest of the twins, and Truffle is the youngest.

History

Kithood: Trufflekit was born into a litter of three with a rogue mother named Enoki, her other mother was a rogue named Yo-yo that left their mother. While she doesn't know much about her, only her name and that she left.

Into her second moon her mother started to strain herself during hunting, due to this she caught heatstroke. As it didn't get better, she waited on the border for a patrol of cats getting worsen by the moment.

Her mother had left after the patrol took them. The patrol contained Damsflybloom and Toadstone. She was unofficially adopted into Toadstones and Applepatch's third litter with her two littermates. Her and her littermates were named by the pair after they learned they were not named due to their mother's fear of them not surviving.

She's been thriving in Monarchclan with her sisters, and has been getting close to her adoptive siblings. She also sees Toadstone as a parental figure, unsure about Applepatch; it still feels weird.

Apprenticeship:

Was jittery about it but has found it enjoyable, has also started to see Applepatch and Toadstone as parents. She thinks Smokestar did a wonderful job choosing Clifflap as her mentor.

Warriorhood: TBA
